OneSpartanburg, Spartanburg County partner to establish Keep S.C. Beautiful affiliate

Aligning with findings from the OneSpartanburg community assessment, OneSpartanburg and the Spartanburg County Environmental Enforcement Department are establishing a Keep South Carolina Beautiful affiliate in Spartanburg.

Keep OneSpartanburg Beautiful will tackle the problem of litter by coordinating volunteer roadside cleanups and promoting anti-litter education across the county. The effort is inspired by the OneSpartanburg community assessment, showing residents believe an improved community appearance increases the health, safety and quality of life, along with the potential for countywide economic growth and development.

Keep OneSpartanburg Beautiful will focus on the beautification and revitalization of corridors countywide and the gateways welcoming visitors, tourists and potential residents to Spartanburg County.

A cleanup day organized by OneSpartanburg in late-October featured volunteers picking up 62 total bags of litter, totaling about 1,550 pounds of trash removed from alongside roadways in Spartanburg and Inman.

The Spartanburg County Environmental Enforcement Department will run the daily operations of Keep OneSpartanburg Beautiful with the Spartanburg Area Chamber of Commerce running the administrative portion of the effort.

Keep OneSpartanburg Beautiful will be a countywide affiliate of Keep SC Beautiful, under the Keep America Beautiful umbrella.

Spartanburg attorney receives prestigious service award from state's top legal group

The South Carolina Association for Justice (SCAJ) Presidents' Council recently awarded Spartanburg attorney Gary W. Poliakoff the Mullis Award of Excellence, a top honor recognizing service, commitment and education in the protection and promotion of justice. SCAJ has over 1300 members and is a leading advocate for matters related to an accessible judicial system and fairness under the law. The award was presented during their Annual Advanced Trial Lawyer College in Atlanta, Georgia, where lawyers from around the nation gather for training and education seminars.

"Gary is an example to all of us in the legal profession and embodies the core elements of commitment and education represented by this award. He has taught and shared his unique knowledge in environmental law for decades, an area in which he is one of South Carolina's top experts," said Hugh McAngus Jr., a Midlands attorney and Chairman of the SCAJ President's Council.

Gary is a graduate of Washington and Lee University and received his J.D. in 1977 from the University of South Carolina School of Law. Since then he has been an advocate for victims' rights, receiving the Victims' Voice Award from the South Carolina Jury Trial Foundation, and has distinguished himself as a top trial attorney over his four decades of practice. He is perhaps most well-known for his work in environmental law, where along with being one of the top South Carolina attorneys in the field, he has also volunteered to share his expertise with lawyers both young and old for over twenty years. Gary also regularly volunteers for environmental causes and has served as Commissioner and Vice Chair of the South Carolina Forestry Commission under both Governor Jim Hodges and Mark Sanford.

Recipients of this award are selected by the Presidents'

Council, a group comprised of all the past presidents of SCAJ. The Council created the award in honor of J. Marvin "Bo" Mullis. For over three decades, Bo was committed to helping lawyers expand their knowledge base through educational seminars. He was instrumental in the formation and growth of the Advanced Trial Lawyer College, which is now a leading annual seminar for a wide array of continuing legal education (CLE) topics. When he passed away in 2012, the President's Council created the award to honor Mullis and future individuals who share his commitment to "education, service, and excellence."

Tourism impact tops $307 million in Spartanburg

Tourists spent more than $278 million in Spartanburg County according to the latest report from Dr. Bob Brookover at Clemson University, resulting in a total economic impact of $307.8 million in fiscal year 2017-18. The Spartanburg Convention & Visitors Bureau commissioned the report to measure the visitor economy.

Spartanburg County was a top-10 visitor destination – just outside the top-5 – in South Carolina.

Tourism supported 6,677 jobs in Spartanburg County, according to the latest tourism report, and local government received more than $17 million in taxes and fees from tourism. Spending by tourists in Spartanburg County also generated more than $55 million in revenue for South Carolina state government entities.

Brookover first measured the impact of tourism in Spartanburg in 2011 as part of the county's Tourism Action Plan and Feasibility Study. The impact of tourism in FY2008-09 was $193.01 million, which supported 4,187 jobs. The late mayor of Pacolet, Elaine Harris, and former County Councilor Jane Hall spearheaded the effort to provide a tourism development plan.

A handful of new hotels opening across the county will enable the CVB to bring larger sports events, meetings and conferences to Spartanburg County, furthering the economic impact tourism has on the area.

"This report shows that tourism has emerged as an important growth industry in Spartanburg County," said Allen Smith, President and CEO of the Spartanburg Area Chamber of Commerce. "With at least five new hotels under construction, and dozens of new restaurants opening this year, the visitor economy here is strong and makes Spartanburg County a must-visit destination in South Carolina."

Face it - Holidays are rarely perfect

From the American Counseling Association

Seasonal TV shows... sparkling gifts in stores... magazines full of beautiful holiday scenes. We're often shown the holiday season as an amazing and joyful time, but maybe your personal holidays aren't quite so perfect. And this can be disappointing for many people.

We'd all like everything to be as wonderful as in the movies, but it's not a fair comparison when we measure how our lives and holidays compare to what the media is constantly showing us. While it's fine to enjoy all we see, we must remind ourselves that those TV holiday shows look so good because they've had many professional designers creating just the right touches. Same thing goes for the holiday store displays or those strikingly beautiful magazine ads. None of these show real life, but rather an idealized version made specifically to impress us.

The perfect holiday world of ads and TV aren't the only reason some of us suffer holiday blues. This is often a time of the year when we forget about eating and living healthfully. We overeat when tempted by holiday treats. We may drink more alcohol than usual. We probably are blaming the weather and our busy holiday schedule for not bothering to exercise.

There are, fortunately, things you can do to combat blue holiday feelings. Rather than envying the fantasy lives you see on TV, or imagining how wonderful the holidays are for your neighbors or other friends, instead focus on all the things in your own life that are good and positive. Identify all the things you personally have and enjoy about this season.

You can also fight blue feelings by keeping control of your life. Avoid excess treats and drinking. Enjoy holiday special foods and beverages in moderation, stick with your regular schedule, get plenty of rest and make time for daily exercise, even if it's just a brief walk.

It's also important not to isolate yourself. Find time for family and friends, and enjoy the season with them. Time spent with others can do a great deal to improve your mood.

But for some people the holiday blues can be difficult to fight. Sad holiday emotions, like all depression, can become a serious mental health problem and not one to be ignored. If depression is affecting you, talk to a professional counselor who can provide help so you can make the best of your holidays and life.

In addition to building a culture of trust, collaboration, and warmth, her students' academic performance continues to improve. Rhonda's focus on meeting each student's individual needs epitomizes the idea of a student-centered focus."

SCASA, the professional organization for school leaders in South Carolina, has more than 4,300 members. From professional development opportunities and research, to publications and legislative advocacy, SCASA's focus is to support school leaders in providing the best possible education for South Carolina's young people. 3 easy ways to simplify your holidays (StatePoint) It can be easy to feel overwhelmed by the busyness of the holiday season -- from perfecting your home décor to searching for gifts for everyone on your list to creating a delicious holiday menu.

To help simplify the holidays, Dollar General is offering easy tips, so you can spend more time enjoying the most magical time of the year.

Deck the Halls

Get festive this season by creating a holiday wonderland in your home. Pick a color theme like red and green or blue and silver -- whatever best fits your taste. Carry the theme throughout your home as you decorate the tree, holiday table, mantle and gifts. Consider adding a wreath to greet guests as soon as they arrive, as well as candles. With varieties like salted caramel and amber spice, those from Dollar General's private brand truliving will capture the scents of the season. Small touches like a table runner or a floral centerpiece can also make your home feel like the perfect holiday escape during this busy season.

Holiday Meal Prep

Cooking for a big crew can certainly be stressful. This year, use digital recipes to help you plan for the big event. Holiday sweets are always a favorite, so consider gifting your favorite desserts. If you plan to spend a lot of time prepping for a big holiday party or just a special dinner for your family, don't forget the snacks to tide everyone over as you await the main course. For snacking you can feel great about, consider wholesome choices like roasted almonds or granola with less sugar.

Gift-Giving

The holidays are the perfect time to gather with friends and loved ones to exchange presents in celebration of the season. If you're worried about finding something affordable for everyone, consider shopping at a discount retailer, like Dollar General. With deals throughout the store on picture frames, books, candles, coffee mugs and more, you can treat everyone on your list without breaking the bank. Plus, they are offering an instant 25 percent savings on any qualifying toy purchase of $75 or more through December 24, 2018. By downloading the store's app, you can access DG Digital coupons. New customers automatically receive a digital coupon for $1 off their first purchase of $1.01 or more.

Don't forget the giftwrap! Get creative with your gift trimmings by choosing a unique theme for each person on your list. With so many wrapping paper, gift bag and ribbon options, you can make every gift as special as the person receiving it.

This season, keep your sights on the essentials. Simplify your shopping by creating a signature theme for home décor, finding deals on gifts for everyone on your list, and baking up something easy and delicious for the whole crew. Plan ahead this year and enjoy the extra time celebrating the season with friends and family.

On behalf of basketball player Brian Bowen II, McLeod Law Group and Jason Setchen, PA file federal racketeering lawsuit against Adidas

Charleston - Recently, the McLeod Law Group filed a federal lawsuit on behalf of Brian Bowen II against Adidas America, Inc. and its associates James Gatto, Merl Code, Christian Dawkins, Munish Sood, Thomas Gassnola and Christopher Rivers, alleging violations of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations (RICO) Act.

Brian Bowen II was a McDonald's All-American and consensus five-star basketball player who in June 2017 committed to play at the University of Louisville. Unbeknownst to Brian, he had been targeted by Adidas and its associates as a must-get for Adidas' flagship university. On September 26, 2017, before Brian played his first game for the Cardinals, Adidas' bribery scheme was exposed by the U.S. Department of Justice when it announced criminal charges against Adidas marketing executives and their co-conspirators.

Adidas spearheaded this criminal racketeering enterprise to coerce the families of top high school basketball players to attend colleges and universities under contract with Adidas to boost the corporate brand and increase profits in the ultra-competitive $25 billion athletic shoe market. Once student athletes, such as Brian, commit to an Adidas sponsored university, they are duty bound to wear Adidas gear and allow Adidas to market their image and likeness for corporate profit.

Because of this criminal scheme and through no fault of their own, Brian and other student athletes lost their eligibility to play college basketball at any school, lost their eligibility to receive financial aid necessary to continue their education, and lost the singular opportunity to develop physically and athletically into NBA draft picks at an elite NCAA Division I basketball program.

Upon filing the lawsuit, lead attorney Mullins

McLeod stated: "Adidas has thus far infiltrated college basketball with complete impunity. It is now time for them to answer for what they have done and to suffer the consequences of their corporate misconduct. Brian is an exceptional young man who is determined to right this wrong and to do his part to help free other student athletes from corporate corruption that has no place in college basketball."

Attorney Jason A. Setchen of Miami-based

AthleteDefender.com, who represented Brian throughout his proceedings with the University of Louisville and the NCAA, added "I have always felt that Brian was the true victim of everything that transpired with Adidas. Brian has been severely damaged due to the actions of others and treated unjustly. I am happy that the McLeod Law Group has undertaken the pursuit of justice on behalf of Brian. I look forward to working in conjunction with them to ensure that Brian finally gets his day in court."

The lawsuit was filed in U.S. District Court in South Carolina. A copy of today's filing can be found at <https://mcleod-lawgroup.com/>

Lawter by Beeson Engineers and Surveying, dated April 15, 1974 and recorded in Plat Book 79 at Page 277 in the Office of the Register of Deeds for Spartanburg County, South Carolina. For a more complete and perfect description, reference is hereby made to the above-referenced survey.

ALSO: All that certain piece, parcel or lot of land situate, lying and being in the State of South Carolina, County of Spartanburg, containing 0.45 acres, more or less, as shown upon Survey for Larry J. and Kathy H. Lawter dated August 15, 1977 and recorded in Plat Book 80 at Page 27 with the Spartanburg County Register of Deeds Office.

This being the same property conveyed to Larry Lawhorn and Eileen Lawhorn from Larry Jimmy Lawter and Kathy H. Lawter in that certain deed dated December 27, 2002 and recorded on December 30, 2002 in Deed Book 77-A at Page 835 with the Spartanburg County Register of Deeds Office. Note that Eileen M. Lawhorn and Larry L. Lawhorn subsequently attempted to convey the 0.81 acre portion of the above-referenced property to My Carolina Family Trust in that certain Quitclaim Deed dated December 7, 2006 and recorded on December 7, 2006 in Deed Book 87-J at Page 166 with the Spartanburg County Register of Deeds Office. That deed, however, was an ineffective conveyance of the property since the deed attempted to convey the property directly to My Carolina Family Trust rather than to one or more Trustees of said Trust. Therefore, the Quitclaim Deed at Deed Book 87-J at Page 166 was an invalid conveyance of the property and the entirety of the above-described property would still have been owned by Larry Lawhorn and Eileen Lawhorn; being the same property conveyed to Nebraska Alliance Realty Company by tax deed dated May 7, 2018, and recorded on May 22, 2018, in Deed Book 119-T, page 593 in the Spartanburg County Register of Deeds Office; and being the same property conveyed to Greymorr Real Estate, LLC by deed dated May 31, 2018, and recorded on June 13, 2018, in Deed Book 120-A, page 70 in the Office of the Register of Deeds for Spartanburg County. Don't get snowed under this Christmas: Tips to spend wisely (StatePoint) Even after setting a holiday budget, the most wonderful time of year is often the most expensive. Experts say that this Christmas, there are new ways to make your dollar go further.

"The days of clipping coupons may be out of style, but finding ways to save money never is," says Michael McAuliffe, president of Family Credit Management. "From in-store apps to price trackers, new tech tools can help."

The experts at Family Credit Management are encouraging consumers to research their money-saving options, as technology is always evolving. To get you started, they have narrowed down a few tech-savvy ways to streamline and save this season.

• Browser Extensions: Forty-six percent of all holiday shopping occurs online, according to WeAreTop10, so, do your share of it wisely. Whether you use Google Chrome, Internet Explorer, Safari or Firefox as your internet browser, there are sites you can visit to add an extension to your searching power. It's like adding an additional search box which will know to look for the best deals out there whenever you are shopping online and compare prices side-by-side, cutting out some of the legwork for you. Some well-known examples are PriceBlink, The Camelizer and InvisibleHand.

• Coupon Apps: Mobile apps such as Coupon Sherpa, SnipSnap and Yowza, enable you to scan items while you're in-store and find the best value coupons on the spot.

• Price Drop Alert Trackers: Eighty-four percent of Americans plan to check Amazon before looking or buying elsewhere, according to the Accenture Holiday Shopping Survey. Don't make the mistake of assuming Amazon is the be-all-and-end-all for saving. Prices drop all the time, especially around Christmas. But, how can you keep track of who is dropping them and when? With a tracker app, you can tell the app what to look for and it will notify you when your wanted items drop in price. IFTTT (If This Then That), camelcamel and Price Tracker for Amazon will keep an eye on prices for you to make sure you're the first to see the best deals.

• Credit Card Points/Discounts: Credit cards can encourage overspending, but when used carefully and within budget, offer certain advantages. For example, store-specific credit cards often offer special discounts, kickbacks and coupons for cardholders. Just think how you could double up on the savings by using some of the above tools, as well as by purchasing with a card with added bonuses. Remember though, that any savings you earn will quickly be eaten up if you pay interest charges. To avoid this trap, never use a credit card unless you can pay the entire balance in full each month. Also, think very carefully about opening a new account, as this can negatively affect your credit.

More holiday shopping, spending and saving tips can be found at familycredit.org.

When it comes to spending, don't let the spirit of the season carry you away. You can stay within budget by practicing spending discipline and leveraging the latest tech tools.

Great holiday gift ideas for the music lover in your family

(StatePoint) Shopping for some music lovers this holiday season? Here are some great gift ideas to help your favorite musicians play and compose music.

Music Composition Tools

Assist both aspiring and accomplished songwriters in their efforts with music composition tools. You can choose to go analog or digital, depending on the style of your gift recipient. For traditionalists, consider a beautiful leather-bound music composition book. For a modern music maker, consider composition software that assists in the creation and sharing of music notation.

Instruments

For both beginner or seasoned musicians, consider the gift of a portable keyboard to help hone their skills at home or on-the-go. Wherever your gift recipients are on their musical journey, and no matter what budget you have to work with, you shouldn't have to compromise on sound quality. For instance, for a modest sum, you can gift the CT-X700 from Casio, which features the AiX Sound Source, 600 life-like instrument tones, hundreds of built-in rhythms and effects for a full band sound, and a lesson system that displays proper fingering and notation. A six-track recorder allows musicians to capture their inspiration, a great feature for songwriters.

Rehearsal Time

Know someone in a band? A soundproofed rehearsal space can be a dream come true for musicians (and their neighbors).

Gift your recipient a rehearsal space rental. Whether you pay for one session or several months' worth of rehearsal time, this is a thoughtful way to support a musician's efforts.

By gifting the instruments, tools and space needed to learn, write and practice music, you can show a musician you care this holiday season.
