BRIGHT STAR | Spartanburg Little Theatre

Spartanburg Little Theatre presents BRIGHT STAR, January 13, 14, 20, 21 at 8:00 pm, and January 15, 21, 22 at 3:00 pm.

Written by Steve Martin and Edie Brickell and inspired by real events, Bright Star is a story of enduring hope woven through time and set against the backdrop of the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina. Young teenager Alice Murphy is devastated when her infant son is ripped away. But 20 years later, a young man enters her life and ushers in an unexpected glimmer of hope. With a Grammy®-nominated bluegrass score that will seep into your veins, this sweeping tale of love, loss and rebirth is as much a musical experience as it is a journey of the heart.

Visit www.chapmanculturalcenter.org for ticket information.

Spartanburg Community College, South Carolina Department of Public Safety sign joint partnership agreement

Spartanburg Community College and the South Carolina Department of Public Safety (SC DPS) recently announced an innovative partnership in which SCC's Giles Campus will become the new headquarters of South Carolina Highway Patrol's Troop 3, Post D.

"We are honored to enter into this partnership with Spartanburg Community College," said SCDPS Director Robert G. Woods, IV. "This relationship between the Department of Public Safety and a higher learning agency is the first of its kind and we hope that it will help pave the way to more partnerships that are beneficial to both state and local communities."

"Chasers helping Chasers, as we have affectionately referred to this partnership, is an example of one of the numerous ways Spartanburg Community College uniquely provides for the communities we serve and will make our Giles Campus one of the safest college campuses in the state," said Dr. Michael Mikota, President of SCC. "We must have safe and secure communities in order to learn, grow, and prosper. We thank our brave campus police officers, applaud the leadership of Chief Powers, and celebrate the initiation of the SC Highway Patrol into the SCC Chaser Family."

The mutual agreement was a solution offered by SCC's Chief of Campus Police, Richard Powers, Ph.D., to address issues of space for the troop's post at its previous location. This collaborative partnership optimizes state resources in an innovative way to benefit student, faculty, staff, and taxpayers.

The new headquarters on the SCC campus will include more office space, a conference room, a break room, and space for members of the general public to speak with a trooper in private.

"The Highway Patrol is grateful that SCC leadership has opened their doors to us," said Captain Kevin Brown, Commander of Troop Three for the SC Highway Patrol. "After more than 40 years at the Fairforest Road location, troopers in Troop 3, Post D are looking forward to more office space and the capabilities this allows. We also expect that the presence of our troopers on campus will help to enhance the safety of students and faculty alike."

Converse first-gen students recognized by City of Spartanburg

The City of Spartanburg recognized first-generation college students from local colleges during the First-Generation College Student Celebration Day Proclamation at the City Council meeting on November 14, 2022.

Since 2017, institutions, non-profits, and K-12 schools throughout the U.S. have celebrated first-generation students, faculty, staff, and alumni on November 8, designated the First-Generation College Celebration day.

According to The Center for First-generation Student Success, November 8 was chosen as the date for the annual National First-Generation College Celebration to honor the anniversary of the signing of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

The City of Spartanburg took the opportunity at the City Council meeting to recognize and celebrate significant contributions made by first-generation students and the teams at the colleges and universities that support them.

As part of Converse's mission to educate and train a diverse student body, the school aims to foster a campus environment in which the academic promise of first-generation students and the collective vision for equal educational opportunity, regardless of socioeconomic class, can be realized.

Highland Baking Co. expanding Spartanburg County operations with $35 million investment

Highland Baking Company, a wholesale bread baking company, recently announced plans to expand its existing facility in Spartanburg County. The company's $35 million investment will create approximately 80 new jobs.

Established in 1984 and based in Northbrook, Ill., Highland Baking Company specializes in producing and distributing custom bread products for national and international restaurant chains. The Spartanburg facility, in operation for 10 years, currently produces 17 different bakery products including pan bread varieties, buns and sub rolls. In addition to serving some of the company's largest customers on the East Coast of the United States, products from the Spartanburg plant are also exported to Central America, the Caribbean, Mexico and South America.

Located at 7001 Asheville Highway in Spartanburg, the company will upgrade its existing building and infrastructure to support a new full production line. The expansion will also allow for a potential additional production line in the future to ensure the company efficiently meets increasing supply demands.

The expansion is expected to be complete by October 2023. Individuals interested in joining the Highland Baking Company team should visit the company's website at highlandbaking.com

"There's something special about announcing business expansions, and celebrating companies that have found success here in Spartanburg. And the facility where Highland Baking is holds a special place for me, as it was where I worked during my first job in Spartanburg, as a management trainee and division HR manager. I speak for many people when I say we're happy Highland Baking will expand its national reach of products made right here in Spartanburg County," stated Spartanburg County Councilman and Economic Development Committee Chairman David Britt.

The Coordinating Council for Economic Development awarded a $100,000 Set-Aside grant to Spartanburg County to assist with costs of site preparation and building improvements.

Environmental groups and Marine Corps Recruit Depot Parris Island awarded $1.2 million to establish living shorelines

Beaufort County, S.C. – The long-term resilience of Beaufort County’s military installations got a boost recently with the announcement of a major grant to reduce climate impacts at Parris Island and surrounding communities.

The Coastal Conservation League, South Carolina Department of Natural Resources (SCDNR), Sustainability Institute (SI), Marine Corps Recruit Depot (MCRD) Parris Island, and The Pew Charitable Trusts were awarded nearly $1.2 million to establish living shorelines near MCRD Parris Island in an effort to improve the area’s natural infrastructure. Unfolding over four years, the project will employ a diverse group of volunteers in oyster reef construction.

The completed project will have a total restored footprint of approximately 3.1 acres, which will ultimately protect about 390 acres. The grant was awarded through the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation’s National Coastal Resilience Fund and was announced on December 6.

“Parris Island values our partnerships with the local community and environmental organizations,” said Tracey Spencer, Parris Island Environmental Division Director. “This grant funding provides us the opportunity to continue our art-of-the-small by implementing nature-based solutions to enhance resiliency within the Lowcountry.”

Volunteers form an assembly line to move bags of oyster shells into place along the shoreline. This is one of several strategies that will be employed at Parris Island to improve the natural infrastructure of the area’s shorelines. (Photo: Kaitlyn Hackathorn/SCDNR)

“We are excited for the opportunity to help preserve the MCRD, Parris Island and to work as partners with the Department of Defense,” said Faith Rivers James, Executive Director of the Conservation League, which established a Beaufort office in 1994. “We look forward to continuing our work in the South Coast, engaging and educating community members about the importance of protecting and restoring the local estuarine natural resources.”

Living shorelines are an increasingly popular strategy for addressing erosion by stabilizing shorelines with natural materials. In South Carolina, that often means using two of the most dominant features of the estuarine environment: oyster reefs and salt marsh grasses. SCDNR biologists have been constructing living shorelines using recy-clered oyster shells for two decades and, more recently, planting Spartina grass to restore salt marsh. This restored habitat reduces storm surge impact, absorbs floodwaters, dissipates wind and wave energy, improves water quality, and provides habitat for birds, fish, and other wildlife.

“Living shorelines like these at Parris Island can also play a vital role in current efforts to protect a million-acre swath of salt marsh from North Carolina to northeast Florida that is at risk of disappearing under rising sea levels and that is crucial to recreational and commercial fishing, waterfowl hunting, birding, and other activities,” said Lora Clarke, an officer with The Pew Charitable Trusts’ conserving marine life in the United States project.

The project at Parris Island will rely heavily on volunteers to build the living shorelines and will use a “train the trainer” model to further expand the project’s impact. “We’ll be working closely with the Sustainability Institute to train its AmeriCorps service members to coordinate and implement community-based volunteer events,” said biologist Michael Hodges, SCDNR’s lead on the project.

The project sites were identified through stakeholder collaboration and are located along significant waterways in Beaufort County on the Beaufort River (Intracoastal Waterway), Battery Creek, and Archers Creek.

Access to MCRD, Parris Island is only available via a causeway, US Highway 21, that is extremely vulnerable to flooding. Similarly, the surrounding community—including infrastructure and community resources like Beaufort Naval Hospital and Fort Frederick Cultural Reserve—is threatened by flooding events. Neighboring communities are mission critical to the infrastructure that supports the human capital needed to maintain Parris Island. Enhancing the habitat that helps strengthen the resilience of communities surrounding Parris Island will improve the resilience of the installation, and ultimately of the region and nation.

New Year’s resolutions for business owners

(SPM Wire) New Year’s resolutions aren’t just for individuals and families. Businesses can benefit from them as a method to reflect and set themselves up for improvements in the months ahead.

Here are a few ways small business owners can get their enterprises on a better track in the new year:

• Hit the books smarter: Get your records in better shape by making sure to put in effect a process of checks and balances, whereby at least two sets of eyes hit your books every month or at least every quarter. Now is also the time to update balance sheets, generate income statements and compile cash flow statements.

• Be more positive: Foster a more positive work environment for in-house employees, as well as those who work from home or frequently are on the road for your business. Encourage real feedback and actually listen to what employees have to say. Be kind and encourage kindness among team members.

• Be goal oriented: Evaluate the past year and be honest in asking yourself if your business met its goals. Clearly define new ones and make sure your entire team knows what these goals are. Create a plan with measurable benchmarks and with regular staff check-ins where your team honestly reviews monthly, quarterly and yearly goals together. Define goals and create a platform for your entire team to transparently benchmark their successes and failings.

The new year is the perfect time to reassess your company and to set it up for increased success in 2023.

Achieve New Year's resolution success with helpful planning tools

(StatePoint) The new year is often a time to set new goals. However, statistics show that very few people are successful in keeping their resolutions. Why? Likely, because they don't have a realistic, long-term plan. And, as Ben Franklin said, "If you fail to plan, you are planning to fail."

This year, create "SMART" goals—as in Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant and Timely. Here are a few ideas on how to set yourself up for success with some of the most common New Year's resolutions.

1. Focus on Fitness

According to a survey of adults who made a New Year's resolution, the most popular goal (48%) was to exercise more. The best way to stick to it is to do something you enjoy. So whether it's running, biking or yoga, find a way to make it fun. That might mean purchasing new workout clothes or equipment or finding a friend to join in to socialize with and to keep you going. Just remember to start slow, track your progress and you'll soon be getting fit in your favorite way.

2. Connect with Family and Friends

With busy schedules, staying connected with friends and family can be difficult. Resolving to keep in touch can be easy though, thanks to new digital tools. Luckily, a subscription service like AmericanGreetings.com allows you to send a variety of digital greetings for any holiday or occasion. To ensure you keep in touch, the personalized greeting cards can be pre-scheduled for delivery by email up to one year in advance or can be sent via text or social media. Plus, you can even include a gift card. Best of all, one subscription unlocks access to the entire American Greetings' online library, including Smash-Ups video greetings, Creatacard digital cards, and Pics & Wishes multimedia messages. Subscriptions are $6.99 per month or $29.99 per year.

3. Improve Finances

If improving your finances is one of your goals, the best place to start is to track your previous year's expenses and categorize them. You might be shocked how those daily lattes or online impulse buys add up! Then, find a financial system that works for you. This could be as simple as a spreadsheet outlining and recording your set expenses and discretionary funds; or syncing your data to your online accounts utilizing a budget-tracking app. Once your system is in place, you'll be able to find areas for improvement and set new financial goals for the future.

4. Get Organized

Getting organized is always a top resolution for the new year—and managing your schedule is a simple way to relieve stress and improve productivity. Start by outlining your daily, weekly or monthly commitments with a planner or online calendar. Google Calendar, for example, is a free option that allows you to view and color code appointments by category. Plus, by recording and prioritizing your responsibilities, you'll also be able to see your free time, so you can make time for things you enjoy.

5. Make Time for Mental Health

In addition to improving physical fitness, managing mental wellness should be at the top of the resolution list. According to Mental Health First Aid, Americans cited enhanced self-confidence (64%), increased productivity (67%), and increased happiness (71%) as the top benefits of mental self-care. So, start your year by adding "mental break" moments to your daily and weekly schedule (maybe on your new calendar). Self-care can be anything from meditation and sleep, to cooking or reading, as long as it helps you decompress, unwind and find your mental zen.

New Year's resolutions can feel overwhelming; but by using available tools to plan ahead and keep you on track, you'll have realistic ways to achieve your goals.

Resolve to protect your finances and your family in the New Year

(StatePoint) After a holiday season spent racking up credit card bills, many Americans consider making financial resolutions in the New Year. However, now is the perfect time to not only reevaluate your saving and spending, but also commit to creating a more holistic financial plan designed to protect your finances and your family.

Consumers are seeking stability and preparedness in today's uncertain economic environment, according to a recent Consumer Sentiment Tracker study by Lincoln Financial Group. With ongoing inflation and market volatility, 56% of respondents cited protection from risk as being most important to them. When it comes to thinking about their finances, people said they have the greatest interest in protecting their family (39%) followed by their income (26%).

"Our research reinforced the importance of financial solutions that can help consumers navigate through market cycles and protect their loved ones," said David Berkowitz, president, Lincoln Financial Network, Lincoln Financial's wealth management business. "People are not only concerned about having enough to pay their bills, but also saving for retirement and preparing for the unexpected. It's important to have a well-rounded financial plan that can address those risks, protect assets and create positive outcomes for today's families."

To achieve a stronger financial future, don't neglect your finances in 2023 — instead, add a little TLC (Talk, Learn, Commit). Resolve to create a robust financial plan using these three tips from Lincoln Financial:

1. Talk about it. Financial conversations play a crucial role. Be transparent with your loved ones about financial priorities so you can set expectations and work toward your shared financial goals. Initiate ongoing discussions to stay on track with everything from saving for retirement to paying for a long-term healthcare event, which can happen suddenly and be very costly. Also, consider talking to a financial professional who can help identify solutions that best meet your individual needs, as well as drive better outcomes. Lincoln's research found those who work with financial professionals are more likely to prioritize retirement savings (26% vs. 10%).

2. Learn more about tax-deferred investments. Life insurance can be more than just a death benefit, with some types of policies offering income replacement for unforeseen events. It can also protect your financial security from the impact of taxes, market volatility and longevity. It's not just for individuals and families either, but businesses too. Also, consider diversifying your portfolio with an annuity, which can provide protected growth and monthly lifetime income to help cover expenses in retirement and ensure you have a stream of income.

3. Commit to maximizing your workplace benefits. Look into supplemental coverages like disability, accident and life insurance that may be available through your employer. Solutions like these protect against unexpected events that can disrupt your ability to provide for your family or drive you into additional debt. If you have an employer-sponsored retirement plan, make sure you are contributing and getting a match, if offered. Tap into any financial wellness tools offered at work to help provide you with an accurate picture of your holistic financial situation and lower stress.

Summons and Notices

(Non-Jury) Foreclosure of Real Estate Mortgage

TO THE DEFENDANT(S) ABOVE NAMED:

YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED and required to appear and defend by answering the Complaint in this action, a copy of which is hereby served upon you, and to serve a copy of your Answer on the subscribers at their offices at 3800 Fernandina Road, Suite 110, Columbia, SC 29210, within thirty (30) days after the service hereof, exclusive of the day of such service; except that the United States of America, if named, shall have sixty (60) days to answer after the service hereof, exclusive of the day of such service; and if you fail to do so, judgment by default will be rendered against you for the relief demanded in the Complaint.

TO MINOR(S) OVER FOURTEEN YEARS OF AGE, AND/OR TO MINOR(S) UNDER FOURTEEN YEARS OF AGE AND THE PERSON WITH WHOM THE MINOR(S) RESIDES, AND/OR TO PERSONS UNDER SOME LEGAL DISABILITY:

YOU ARE FURTHER SUMMONED AND NOTIFIED to apply for the appointment of a guardian ad litem within thirty (30) days after the service of this Summons and Notice upon you. If you fail to do so, application for such appointment will be made by Attorney for Plaintiff.

YOU WILL ALSO TAKE NOTICE that Plaintiff will move for an Order of Reference or the Court may issue a general Order of Reference of this action to a Master-in-Equity/Special Referee, pursuant to Rule 53 of the South Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure.

YOU WILL ALSO TAKE NOTICE that under the provisions of S.C. Code Ann. § 29-3-100, effective June 16, 1993, any collateral assignment of rents contained in the referenced Mortgage is perfected and Attorney for Plaintiff hereby gives notice that all rents shall be payable directly to it by delivery to its undersigned attorneys from the date of default. In the alternative, Plaintiff will move before a judge of this Circuit on the 10th day after service hereof, or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard, for an Order enforcing the assignment of rents, if any, and compelling payment of all rents covered by such assignment directly to the Plaintiff, which motion is to be based upon the original Note and Mortgage herein and the Complaint attached hereto.

Q. What has Chris Rock been doing since he was attacked by Will Smith at the Oscars? Does he talk about it publicly at all? — E.M.

A. Actor/comedian Chris Rock has remained relatively quiet since Oscar-winning actor Will Smith smacked him in anger at the Oscars last year. Rock has reportedly turned down offers to host the upcoming ceremony in 2023, choosing instead to focus on his roots: stand-up comedy. He was already set to tour when the incident happened — and ticket sales soared — but he told his audience in Boston last March, “I’m still processing what happened.”

On March 4 at 10 p.m. ET, subscribers can watch a new Chris Rock comedy special in Netflix’s first ever live-streamed event. I’m willing to bet he comments, or even jokes, about the slap, because he’s already referenced it in past performances in other cities. For example, in Phoenix this past August, he told his audience that not only did he turn down a chance to host the Oscars again, but that he also rejected an offer to appear in a Super Bowl commercial. He also admitted that the slap hurt, obviously, referencing how Smith once played Muhammad Ali in a movie.

Viewers have been bingeing all 16 episodes of “Attorney Woo” and are asking for more. According to DigitalSpy.com, it’s the eighth most watched non-English series of all time on Netflix, and it’s expected to be renewed for a second season.

Q. I really enjoy the Korean legal drama on Netflix about a lawyer named Woo. Is the lead actress autistic in real life, like her character? — L.D.

A. “Extraordinary Attorney Woo” stars Park Eun-bin as a young attorney named Woo Young-woo who is on the autism spectrum. She “boasts a high IQ, an impressive memory and a wonderfully creative thought process, but she struggles with everyday interactions.” It’s not just a legal drama; it’s also very endearing and whimsical, making it more of a dramedy.

Park is not autistic in real life and initially felt conflicted about taking the role. She told ENA (the distributor of the series in Korea) that she “met with a professor to ask for advice ... and learned some general characteristics of people with autism.” Her talent is widely

Q. Is it true that the actor who plays Rip on “Yellowstone” is a redhead in real life? Does he dye his hair for the part, or does he wear a wig? — L.E.

A. Cole Hauser has been around in Hollywood for decades, and those familiar with his work probably find him unrecognizable as Rip Wheeler on “Yellowstone.” The actor told Jenny McCarthy on her radio show that the decision to dye his hair and beard black was mainly because Beth (Kelly Reilly), his love interest on the show, “is a ginger, and I’m ginger as well.”
