BMW Manufacturing broke ground on a new $20 million, 67,000 square-foot training center on February 22.

BMW breaks ground on new $20 million training center on Spartanburg campus

Officials of BMW Manufacturing, along with South Carolina Secretary of Commerce Bobby Hitt, broke ground recently for a new $20 million, 67,000 square-foot training center on the BMW campus. The investment is a continuation of BMW's 2017 commitment to invest $200 million over five years into workforce training. When completed in the summer of 2022, the building will feature multiple classrooms for both professional development and technical training, an outdoor amphitheater, and a unique concept of outdoor meeting and workspace that includes wireless capabilities.

"The most important investment for BMW is our people. Our associates are the key to BMW's success," said Knudt Flor, president and CEO of BMW Manufacturing. "The rapid pace of digitalization, electrification, artificial intelligence, and autonomous driving is transforming the automotive industry. Advancing the skills of our workforce is a priority for BMW. This training center will offer a learning environment that promotes creativity, fosters innovation, and improves technical training skills."

"We applaud BMW for their continued investment in our state's biggest asset – our workforce," said South Carolina Secretary of Commerce Bobby Hitt.

"Since 1992, BMW has shown their steadfast commitment to not only South Carolina, but to our people as well. This new training center will ensure BMW technicians are highly trained and skilled in the latest automotive technologies and are prepared for the jobs of today and tomorrow."

The new training center will be built across from the existing Campus Training Center (CTC). The idea is to connect recruiting, hiring, training and innovation all in one location.

"Our recruiting and training concept is very stimulating and interesting," said Christine Petrasch, vice president of Human Resources for BMW Manufacturing. "We want to create a 'college campus' atmosphere around the new building with pathways and meeting places. As newly hired associates walk out of the CTC, they see the new training center in front of them and behind that, they see the BMW plant where they will work. It will be very inspiring."

The training center will also be home to BMW's well-known apprenticeship program – BMW Scholars.

"The technical training areas will have a flexible classroom design to adapt to multiple learning environments," said Paul Sinanian, manager for Talent Management and Training. "Training robots identical to those inside the BMW plant will be placed on moveable pallets so they can be relocated depending on the learning situation. Classrooms will be equipped with the utilities and IT networking needed for teaching robotics, electrical, mechanical, engine and automotive training."

The new training center will replace the current BMW Training and Development Center (TDC) on Brockman-McClimon Road, which has been in operation for more than 27 years. The TDC started as temporary office space for the first BMW associates in 1993. The following year, the first production associates used the building to assemble BMW 3 Series vehicles for training. For more than two decades, the TDC has been used for both technical and professional training.

BMW Manufacturing currently produces about 1,500 vehicles each day, exporting more than two-thirds of its models to 125 global markets. The model portfolio includes five top-selling BMW X models, four Motorsport X models and two plug-in hybrid electric X models. The factory has a production capacity of up to 450,000 vehicles and employs more than 11,000 people.

when our life sciences sector has evolved into one of our fastest-growing industries. The continued development of life sciences will create high-paying jobs that will ensure well-being and prosperity in South Carolina for years to come," added S.C. Governor Henry McMaster.

The facility is expected to be operational in May 2021. Individuals interested in joining the Pall team should visit the company's careers webpage.

The Coordinating Council for Economic Development has approved job development credits related to the project.

Hope for the best, prepare for the worst

I live in Texas, in an area that has been hit recently with a massive power-grid failure, freezing temperatures, icy roads, frozen pipes, water pressure woes and boil water notices for the past several days. To say that our state was unprepared for this weather disaster is an understatement.

Whether you live in an area that has been hit with pandemic quarantines and lockdowns, work and school closures, bad weather, power outages, frozen pipes and water cut-offs, or you just need to stock your pantry for the times when you're unable to shop, here are some ways to create an emergency pantry using canned goods as staples.

Typical emergency pantry:

- * Dried and/or evaporated milk
- * Pasta, rice, cereals, crackers, bread (can be frozen for months)
- * Jars of processed cheese spread
- * Granola bars, Pop Tarts
- * Canned fruits and vegetables
- * Canned meats & fish (chicken, ham, tuna)
- * Canned fruit, vegetable juices
- * Peanut butter
- * Canned bean, potato salad
- * Unsalted nuts
- * Canned baked beans, chili, hash, spaghetti, soup
- * Dried fruits
- * Instant beverages
- * Baby food and formula (if needed)
- * Bottled water
- Additional supplies:
- * Non-electric can opener
- * Paper towels, foil
- * Medications (prescription and nonprescription) that family uses on a regular basis
- * Paper goods (toilet paper and tissues), napkins, plates, bowls, cups
- * Plastic cutlery
- * Bar soap and rinse-free body wash (if sanitizers or liquid soaps are unavailable)
- * Food and water for pets
- * Catering sterno cans, matches and aluminum chafers
- pan sets (disposable party buffet serving sets can be used for cooking and re-heating food safely)

No-cook Emergency Pantry Recipes

Overnight Oats -- Mix rolled oats with water and let sit overnight on a counter. In the morning, add peanut butter, raisins or other dried fruit, and a little cinnamon.

Power Bean and Grain Bowl or Wrap Filling -- Combine drained canned beans with a pouch of pre-cooked grains, drained canned corn, olive oil and any vegetables, herbs and spices you like. This dish also makes a delicious filling for a wrap, tortilla or pita bread.

Salmon or Tuna Stuffed Avocados -- Combine chunks of canned salmon, tuna or canned smoke trout with chopped tomato and cucumber. Toss with a dressing of lemon juice or white vinegar, olive oil, paprika, and salt and pepper. Use to stuff in avocado halves, top lettuce greens or as a sandwich filling.

Richardson gives record $150 million to Wofford College Endowment

Jerome J. Richardson, founding owner of The Carolina Panthers and long-time business leader in the Carolinas, has given $150 million to Wofford College, his alma mater. The gift — the largest in the college's history — is designated for the endowment with a focus on need-based scholarships and experiences for Wofford students.

With this gift, Richardson's contributions to Wofford exceed $262.6 million, among the largest individual commitments ever to a U.S. college or university. The $257.3 million he has given since 2014 as part of the current "For Wofford" campaign is the largest single campaign gift made to a national liberal arts college.

"Mr. Richardson's loyalty to Wofford College and his commitment to the student experience have been a constant since he came to Spartanburg from Fayetteville, N.C., on a modest football scholarship in 1954," said Wofford President Nayef Samhat. "After he graduated, he gave even when he had very little to give, and throughout his life's journey, he has remembered his alma mater without fail. This gift is Mr. Richardson once again changing the game for Wofford College students, and we are forever grateful for his love of our college and the countless ways this gift will impact our students, our community and ultimately our world."

The $150 million endowment gift will focus on four areas:

- * Need-based financial aid that will affect hundreds of students each year.

- * Off-campus U.S. and global study opportunities, student and faculty research, internships and entrepreneurial learning opportunities.

- * An initiative to transition all of the college's support staff to a minimum wage of $15 per hour.

Jerry Richardson has given $150 million to Wofford College, the largest gift in the school's history.

* A special fund for the maintenance, repair and improvement of campus buildings.

The college will award the earnings from these funds so that the impact of this gift continues in perpetuity.

"These endowed funds will play a crucial role in making a Wofford education affordable and accessible for generations of students while helping the college to extend its support and appreciation for staff members who contribute to the Wofford experience," said Samhat. "Every member of our community will benefit in some way from this gift!"

"Wofford College has a reputation for supporting student success. Since the college was founded in 1854, faculty and staff have used the resources available to them to mentor, advise and inspire students such as Jerry Richardson. Now, because of Mr. Richardson, the full Wofford College experience will be available to even more students, especially those impeded by financial barriers."

Richardson many times has credited his Wofford College career with helping him succeed in business and in the NFL.

"Coming to Wofford in 1954 as a 18-year-old with a partial scholarship was a turning point in my life," Richardson said. "It is difficult to put into words how grateful I am for that opportunity and how proud I am of the tremendous progress the college has made since then. My hope is that many more young people will now be able to aim high regardless of their background or financial means."

Jerry and Rosalind Sallenger Richardson have contributed to 14 capital projects on Wofford's campus since 1979, including three major buildings during the current comprehensive campaign, which launched publicly in October 2018: the 3,400-seat Jerry Richardson Indoor Stadium, the Rosalind Sallenger Richardson Center for the Arts and Jerome Johnson Richardson Hall, a 150-bed residence hall that opened in the fall of 2020. Their other philanthropic focus at Wofford has been the Richardson Family Scholarship, which provides a full four-year scholarship to one student in each class. The scholarship includes books, a laptop, paid internships and a month-long study abroad experience.

Richardson has a photo in his Charlotte, North Carolina, office of his childhood home. There was no running water nor electricity. His father was a barber; his mother worked in a women's clothing store. They didn't have a car until Richardson was 16 years old. When Richardson enrolled at Wofford, he depended on his football scholarship and on a $30 a month job as a resident assistant. His childhood experiences have stayed with him always and have shaped his philanthropy with an emphasis on providing opportunities through education.

Richardson was named an Associated Press Little America selection in 1957 and 1958 and still holds three records as a wide receiver for the Terrier football team. He still calls being elected team captain in 1958 as one of his greatest lifetime honors. In 1983, he was chosen to be Wofford's All-Time Football team as a receiver. The college retired his jersey no. 51 in 2011.

As a student, Richardson was a member of Kappa Alpha Order, president of the Inter-Fraternity Council and a member of Blue Key National Honor Fraternity and Scabbard and Blade military fraternity. He was drafted in the 13th round by the NFL Baltimore Colts after his junior year, but he was determined to finish his degree and complete his college football career with the Terriers. After graduation, Richardson played two seasons in the NFL, earning Colt Rookie of the Year honors in 1959 and catching a touchdown pass in the 1959 Championship game from Johnny Unitas.

Richardson then embarked on a successful business career with his Wofford teammate, Charlie Bradshaw. Opening the first Hardee's franchise in Spartanburg, he and Bradshaw co-founded Spartan Food Systems. Richardson later was the CEO of Flagstar, which was the sixth largest food service company in the nation.

On Oct. 26, 1993, Richardson became the first former NFL player since George Halas to become an owner when the Carolinas were unanimously awarded the NFL's 29th franchise. The Carolina Panthers began play in 1995 and reached the NFC Championship game in the 1996 season.

The Panthers won the NFC Championship in 2003 and 2015, advancing to Super Bowls XXVIII and 50.

Richardson is the only person to be inducted into both the North Carolina and South Carolina Business and Athletic Halls of Fame.

Richardson is married to his college sweetheart, Rosalind Sallenger Richardson. They have been lifelong residents of the Carolinas and have two children, Mark Richardson and Ashley Richardson Allen; their son Jon Richardson died in 2013. Grandson Johnson Richardson played football for Wofford and graduated in 2010, and granddaughter Rose Richardson played volleyball for Wofford and graduated in 2013.

"Mr. Richardson has always been and continues to be a game-changer," said Samhat. "We are overwhelmingly appreciative that he chose Wofford back in 1954 and that he has continued to support our students and our college's mission."

Three hacks to make spring cleaning a breeze

(StatePoint) Time for your annual spring clean? Make sure you're equipped with the right tools and strategies. Here are a few cleaning hacks to help ensure a smooth and easy process.

De-Clutter First

Reducing clutter in your home means fewer objects to launder, dust and wipe down, and should be the first step of your spring clean. Start with dressers and closets. As the seasons change, you'll likely be reorganizing them anyway in order to stow winter items away while making spring and summer garments readily accessible.

As you do your seasonal swap, have bags and labels on-hand to sort items by what you are keeping, what you plan to donate, and what needs to be recycled or discarded. Use the same organizational method to pare down knickknacks, books and other odds and ends as you tackle pantries, shelving and more. Take this opportunity to wipe down shelving, particularly surface areas with food, dust and other residue build-up.

Streamline Your Clean

These days, disinfecting high-traffic areas of the home should be top of mind. However, it doesn't have to be complicated. Streamline the task by selecting cleaning products that are safe for use on a wide variety of household surfaces, and can be used around kids and pets.

Consider stocking your cleaning arsenal with an easy-to-use product such as ARM & HAMMER

Essentials Disinfecting Wipes, which kills cold and flu viruses, along with MRSA, strep, staph, E. coli, salmonella and kleb. Available in Lemon Orchard and Renewing Rain scents, these wipes provide citrus-based disinfection that clean without harsh chemicals, and are safe for use on stainless steel, sealed granite, finished hardwood, tubs, shower walls, toilet exteriors and hard nonporous surfaces of car interiors. To learn more, visit armandhammercleans.com.

Use Household Items

A true deep clean is not just about what meets the eye, it's also about what meets the nose. Unfortunately, certain nooks and crannies of the home have a sneaky habit of odor build-up. Squash problem areas with a versatile, essential item you probably already have on hand -- baking soda. Place an opened box in your fridge to absorb unwanted odors, swapping it out every month or so. Do the same in pantries where food items like onions and garlic are stored in order to neutralize their strong smells. You might also try using ARM & HAMMER Garbage Disposal Cleaner, which are capsules containing baking soda. Leaving behind a citrus scent, they are a useful tool in combating kitchen sink odors.

A few essentials and some smart cleaning strategies is all you need to give your home some TLC this spring.

- On March 18, 1911, Irving Berlin copyrights the biggest pop song of the early 20th century, "Alexander's Ragtime Band." The song was easier to play than Joplin's "The Entertainer," which encouraged sheet music sales. Those topped 1.5 million copies in the first 18 months after publication.
- On March 16, 1926, Robert Goddard successfully launches the world's first liquid-fueled rocket at Auburn, Massachusetts. The 10-foot-tall rocket traveled for 2.5 seconds at a speed of about 60 mph, reaching an altitude of 41 feet and landing 184 feet away.

VETERANS POST

'Federal Partners' Get Vaccine From VA

Who are the Department of Veterans Affairs federal partners? Inquiring minds want to know.

A recent VA press release boasted about surpassing the VA's milestone of administering 1 million doses of the COVID vaccine. That's a great number, but that 1 million-plus isn't all veterans.

Some 626,000 veterans got the first (and sometimes) second dose. Over 400,000 went to VA employees. But 1,200 doses went to "federal partners."

Nowhere, in much research across the Internet, could I find just who those partners were.

The VA has done a good job of setting up a website showing just how many people at each of the many sites across the country have received the vaccine. But once again, those "federal partners" weren't identified.

They also aren't identified in the 88-page Memorandum of Agreement between the VA and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, where it's stated that the VA will vaccinate those "federal partners." It did say that those who receive the vaccine will be entered into the VA's electronic medical record, and that they could be given by VA staff who go to the partner sites. The VA will let the CDC know how many doses they need out of the VA's vaccine allocation.

So, who are they, these federal partners? I did come across a few clues about "partners" in my search, although not the ones getting the vaccine: Federal Partners in Bullying Prevention, Bureau of the Fiscal Service (which seems to keep a list of taxpayers who owe child support), Veteran Employment Services Office, the Food and Drug Administration Federal Partners Collaborative, the Bureau of Indian Education and the Faith-based and Community Initiatives.

In other words, it's across the board, and all manner of government departments can have sub-groups that may be considered partners.

Granted, 1,200 doses isn't huge given the scope of the program, but these are doses that didn't go to veterans.
