USC Upstate pool will be renamed after $250,000 gift from Spartanburg's Poole family

The University of South Carolina Upstate's pool facility will soon be named for the sons of two community leaders.

John and Lynne Poole, of Spartanburg, have gifted $250,000 to the USC Upstate Foundation for the naming of the Lee and Brad Poole Aquatics Center.

"We could not be more excited and grateful for the Poole family," said Benita Hopkins, the university's Associate Vice-Chancellor for Development and Alumni Affairs. "Their investment in USC Upstate will create a hallmark of memories for our student body for years to come."

Swimming has been a significant part of the Poole family's lifestyle for many years. It goes back to John's collegiate career at the University of South Carolina, where he was a swimming letterman attending on a full scholarship.

After the couple left UofSC, they carried on the tradition with their new family. Their son, Brad, swam on club teams throughout his childhood and later earned a scholarship and a captain's rank at Davidson College. No one cheered louder for him than Lynne, who surely whipped out a few chants from her years as a varsity cheerleader for the Gamecocks. coached high Brad school swim teams after college and then became Regional Sales Director for a major cardiac device manufacturer. These days, Brad and his wife, Jenna, reside in Charlotte, N.C., teaching their daughter the same valuable lessons learned from her grandfather and a shared passion for swimming.

After many years of supporting USC Upstate students through their endowed scholarship, John and Lynne wanted to dive deeper to show their appreciation for their alma mater. Anyone who knows the Pooles is aware of their love for community, family and aquatics.

"This is our chance to honor our two children. Lee and Brad, who are so special to us and have been an inspiration to us and many others in such different, yet meaningful ways," the Pooles said, in a statement. "It's an opportunity to further the mission of USC Upstate; to primarily educate young people who are, not only from the Upstate of South Carolina, our home for over 35 years, but who will most likely continue to reside in the Upstate upon graduation and help our local economy grow and prosper for years to come."

As longtime members of the Upstate community with an outstanding track record for serving across several regional boards and organizations, including John's 20-plus years on the USC Upstate Foundation Board, John and Lynne believe in "advancing the university as a major asset to the entire region that ultimately plays a vital role in the community's growth and quality of life, and serves as a major economic engine." According to them, "the best is still to come! Go Spartans!"

Freeze the best of summer

It's August, and that means I'm busily trying to figure out a way to preserve the smells and flavors of my favorite vegetables. I enjoy stocking my freezer with vegetables I've grown or bought in large quantities from local farmers. Your freezer is one of the best ways to preserve the color and flavor of summer produce all year long.

Can I Freeze Bell and Sweet Peppers Raw?

If you've picked a peck of peppers and have too many to eat, try freezing them. Peppers are one of those foods that can be quickly frozen raw without first blanching them. Here are some guidelines on freezing bell and sweet peppers raw:

Select crisp, tender, green or bright-red pods. Wash, cut out stems, cut in half and remove seeds. If desired, cut into 1/2inch strips or rings. Good for use in uncooked foods because they have a crisper texture, or in cooked foods. Package raw, leaving no headspace. Seal and freeze.

NOTE: To make it easier to remove only the amount of frozen bell or sweet peppers needed at one time, freeze sliced or diced peppers in a single layer on a cookie sheet with sides. Transfer to a "freezer" bag when frozen, excluding as much air as possible from the bag.

Cornfield named to ASUN Men's Golf All-Decade Team

Atlanta, Ga. - The ASUN Conference announced the Men's Golf 2010-2019 All-Decade Team and USC Upstate alum Ryan Cornfield (Dudley, England) earned a spot on the list.

Cornfield played for USC Upstate from 2012-2016 and became one of the greatest golfers in school history. Cornfield is a three-time All-ASUN selection with a first team nod coming in his senior season with the Spartans. The native of England was the first USC Upstate golfer male or female to qualify for an NCAA Regional at the Division I level. Cornfield, produced back-to-back top-25 finishes in the NCAA Regionals and finished in ninth place his senior season.

To be named to the All-Decade Team an individual must have competed for at least two years in the decade as an ASUN student-athlete. Individuals that obtained one of the following criteria were named to the team; three First Team All-Conference selections, four All-Conference selections or multiple Scholar-Athlete/Player of the Year. Individuals that obtained at least two of the following criteria were also named to the team; Player/Freshman/Scholar-Athlete of the Year/Championship Medalist, three All-Conference selections, two First Team All-Conference selections or three top-10 at ASUN Championship.

USC Upstate was a member of the ASUN Conference from 2007-18. The Spartans joined the Big South Conference on July 1, 2018.

Can Tomatoes be Frozen Raw?

Like peppers, tomatoes can be frozen raw. Frozen tomatoes are best used in cooked foods such as soups, sauces and stews as they become mushy when they're thawed.

Select firm, ripe tomatoes with deep red color. Wash and dip in boiling water for 30 seconds to loosen skins. Core and peel. Freeze whole or in pieces. Pack into containers, leaving linch headspace. Seal and freeze.

TIP: Dip just a few tomatoes at a time into the boiling water or the water temperature may be lowered too much to remove the skins without overheating the tomatoes. Place hot tomatoes in a colander and rinse under cold water to make them easier to handle. A knife with a serrated edge works best for cutting tomatoes.

How About Freezing Fresh Herbs?

Wash, drain and pat the herbs dry with paper towels. Wrap a few sprigs or leaves in freezer wrap and place in a freezer bag, then seal and freeze. The frozen herbs can be chopped and used in cooked dishes. After freezing, the herbs usually are not suitable for garnish, as they become limp when thawed.

TIP: To extend the time frozen fruits and vegetables maintain good quality, package foods in material intended for freezing and keep the temperature of the freezer at 0 F or below. It is generally recommended that frozen vegetables and fruits be eaten within eight months for best quality.

South Carolina joins national online PPE exchange to expand access to critical personal protective equipment

The spring 2020 collaboration between SCMEP, the SC Hospital Association, the SC Department of Commerce and SCBIO which launched the online South Carolina Emergency Supply Collaborative portal to provide critical personal protective equipment (PPE) to healthcare providers, hospitals and businesses across the Palmetto State has taken a giant leap forward.

The SC Emergency Supply Collaborative has joined forces with the national team at PPE Exchange to provide a dramatically expanded and fully automated resource for accessing PPE and supplies for all South Carolina businesses.

PPE Exchange is an online marketplace of regional and national suppliers of PPE, similar in concept to an Amazon but dedicated to the provision of PPE and essential supplies. Via PPE Exchange, hospitals, health care providers and businesses seeking supplies are virtually connected to a marketplace of already-verified suppliers to securely search for items, schedule orders, compare prices and complete transactions.

Among the enhanced benefits of sourcing supplies via PPE Exchange is its support technology built on blockchain, allowing buyers: to track transactions from order placement to delivery; access to over 200 regional and national suppliers; easy ability to source from SCbased suppliers; price comparison capabilities; ability to order in small volumes; and a "request a quote" feature.

"The demand for PPE continues to be critical to our state and its diverse businesses and healthcare providers," said Chuck Spangler, President of the South Carolina Manufacturing Extension Partnership and a spokesperson for the Emergency Supply Collaborative. "After creating and operating the South Carolina COVID-19

Emergency Supply portal with our partners these past several months, we identified PPE Exchange as an organization with the secure technology platform, expanded mix of vendors and products, and service-driven operations approach to provide the secure digital marketplace that Palmetto State organizations seeking PPE deserve."

Much as with the prior Collaborative portal, PPE Exchange connects parties in need of essential supplies and equipment with those that can provide it quickly and efficiently. It allows industry providers of critical medical supplies (such as face shields, gowns, ventilators and masks) from South Carolina and across the U.S. to directly connect with the healthcare providers and members of industry in search of essential supplies in one easy step. South Carolina suppliers of goods are clearly marked to ensure that Palmetto State organizations can "Shop SC" as desired.

To begin accessing the marketplace on PPE Exchange, visit https:// www.ppe.exchange/ and request access. Upon entering a contact email and basic information, an email will be automatically sent prompting a password reset and allowing login to the PPE Exchange website.

"Whether from a South Carolina or a South Dakota supplier, organizations and individuals can go online 24/7 via PPE Exchange to identify and select the critical need items they need from the expanded menu of providers and offerings," said Sam Konduros, CEO of SCBIO. "We encourage every member of our state's industry, if you have a need for PPE products, or want to add your products to the growing registry of vendors, to visit PPE Exchange now."

5 smart ways to prep for back-to-school without the stress

(StatePoint) Whether the new school year means your kids will be heading back to the classroom, learning remotely, or a mix of both, back-to-school will most likely be stressful. Thinking ahead can help prepare everyone for a new way of learning, and simplify the transition from the slow ease of summertime to the bustle of the school year. Follow these tips so that everyone is ready when the first bell rings.

1. Resume the Routine. Summertime schedules are often lax, but a more structured routine is important during the school year. At least a week before classes start, reestablish set bedtimes and mealtimes to ease everyone back into school year habits. Even if children are remote-learning this fall, keep first day of school traditions alive with their favorite breakfast, pictures and a first day of school outfit.

2. Simplify Shopping. Create a checklist of items you'll need to buy, as well as plan out where you'll make purchases. Check school dress codes and required supply lists before vou head out, so vou don't have to make multiple trips. In addition to the usual supplies, stock up on extra face masks, personal tissues and hand sanitizer. If your child will be learning virtually, you may want to consider adding items to the list like extra USB chargers and ports, noise-cancelling headphones – to help older siblings concentrate - and even blue light filtering glasses for kids that will be in front of a computer or tablet more than usual.

3. Set Up a Homework Station. A dedicated space to store supplies and paperwork is key to staving organized. Let kids take pride in this space so they want to spend time studying there by having them create their own accessories and decorating them to their liking. Duck

Tape provides an easy, inexpensive way to add flair to school gear. Cover notebooks and folders in a favorite Duck Tape design, customize desk organizers and décor with cool ontrend colors, or craft oneof-a-kind creations, like pencil pouches and tablet covers. Available in more than 250 colors, designs and licenses, there's a roll to suit any kid's style.

4. Stick to the Schedule. Once the hustle and bustle of the school year kicks into high gear, it's important that students, parents and teachers stay on track. Find a unique way to display activities, homework or personal messages to your kids like a "quote of the day." You can use colored tape and chalkboard tape to outline a fun activity chart on a dry erase board or chalkboard easel. In addition to to-do lists and homework assignments, make sure to include outdoor time for recess and opportunities for arts and crafts. At the end of each day, sit together to check off everything that's been completed and help your kids update the schedule for the next day this way they stay engaged and excited for what's to come.

5. Label Supplies. Kids are forgetful and it's easy for supplies to become misplaced or swapped with other children. To ease your mind about your child sharing pencils or accidentally grabbing the wrong backpack, have a night where you sit down and label supplies with colorful Duck Tape. Your child can select favorite colors and customize folders for each subject. If learning from home, this is also great way to prevent "he stole my pencil" arguments amongst siblings.

AAA urges motorists to be cautious as school is back in session

Charlotte, N.C. - As students across the Carolinas begin the school year, whether virtually or in the classroom, AAA is urging motorists to slow down and pay special attention in neighborhoods and school zones.

"Because of the pandemic, schools are reopening under different plans and phases," said Tiffany spokesperson, Wright, AAA - The Auto Club Group in the Carolinas.

school bus that is stopped with its red lights flashing and STOP arms extended. Watch for bicycles. Children on bicycles are often inexperienced, unsteady and unpredictable. Slow down and allow at least three feet of passing distance between your vehicle and a bicyclist. If your child rides a bicycle to school, require that he or she wear a properly fitted bicycle helmet on every ride. Find videos, expert advice and safety tips at ShareTheRoad. AAA.com.

Talk to your teen. Car crashes are the leading cause of death for teens in the United States, and nearly one in four fatal crashes involving teen drivers occurs during the after-school hours of 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. Get evidence-based guidance and tips at TeenDriving. AAA.com

"Drivers aren't sure where exactly they'll encounter students, so it's important to be extra vigilant and treat neighborhoods as school zones, as many are doing virtual learning and could be outside during various times throughout the day."

In an effort to prevent tragedies and help communities improve neighborhood and school safety, AAA has provided tips to abide by in these areas.

Driver Tips from AAA -The Auto Club Group's School's Open - Drive Carefully campaign:

Slow Down. Speed limits in school zones are reduced for a reason. A pedestrian struck by a vehicle traveling at 25 mph is nearly two-thirds less likely to be killed compared to a pedestrian struck by a vehicle traveling just 10 mph faster.

Come to a complete stop. Research shows that more than one-third of drivers roll through stop signs in school zones or neighborhoods. Always come to a complete stop, checking carefully for children on sidewalks and in crosswalks before proceeding.

Eliminate distractions. Research shows that taking your eyes off the road for just two seconds doubles your chances of crashing. Children can move quickly; crossing the road unexpectedly or emerging suddenly between two parked cars. Reduce the risk by not using your cell phone or eating while driving, for example.

Watch for school buses. Motorists are required to stop when approaching a

Even Exchange by Donna Pettman

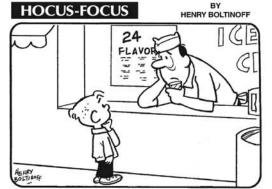

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an I, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

Study the two words on each line to find the ONE letter in the left column that is NOT in the word in the right column. Write the extra letter on the blank space. Then read DOWN to answer this riddle:
