Dr. Will Case appointed Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs at Converse

Converse University has appointed Dr. Will Case to serve as Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs for Converse University, effective immediately. Case joined Converse in 2015 as an assistant professor of chemistry and has since served as Chair of the Department of Natural Sciences, Co-Director of the Nisbet Honors Program, Institutional Accreditation Liaison for SACSCOC, Associate Provost for Student Success, and Acting Provost.

"Dr. Case's leadership has been essential for the success of Converse University," shared President Dr. Boone Hopkins. "He has demonstrated a strong record of strategic planning, budget management, faculty collaboration, staff support, and student development. We look forward to his continued success at Converse in this new role."

Case looks forward to continued collaborations with faculty, staff, and students. "I am honored to have the opportunity to continue advancing the institution's strong academic programs and to work together to ensure we meet the needs and interests of current and future students," Case ensures that students are exposed to, gain an appreciation for, and acquire knowledge of a variety of subject areas, regardless of their major. Work has focused on refining the GEP to underscore Converse's mission of empowering students to become transformative leaders who see clearly, decide wisely, and act justly.

Case has taught a range of courses that include biochemistry, forensic chemistry, and an interdisciplinary course on the art and science of ceramics. He is an avid promoter of technology in the classroom. Case's research interests fall within the broad areas of separation science, biosensors, and chemical education. During his first year at Converse, Case was awarded a $127,000 Developmental Research Project Target Faculty Grant from the SC IDeA Networks of Biomedical Research Excellence.

Throughout his tenure at Converse, he has won numerous accolades including the South Carolina Independent Colleges and Universities Excellence in Teaching Award, Creative and Scholarly Achievement Award, and the Jo Ann Lever Award for Student Involvement. Case currently serves on the board of the Spartanburg Science Center and is an active member of the American Chemical Society. In his spare time, he enjoys tennis, running, and traveling.

At Carolina Day, Spartan Pride is magnified

Adapted from information courtesy of USC Upstate

On February 11, more than 60 students, faculty, and staff from the University of South Carolina Upstate traveled to the South Carolina State House for Carolina Day, an annual event celebrating the university's accomplishments and expressing gratitude to legislators for their continued support.

Throughout the day, USC Upstate representatives met with local lawmakers to thank them for their investment in the university's initiatives, including critical funding allocations that have supported the institution's continued growth and innovation.

During the discussions, university leaders highlighted three major milestones shaping USC Upstate's future:

Launch of the Industrial Engineering Program: This new program is designed to meet the growing demand for engineering professionals in the Upstate region and will equip students with the skills to succeed in South Carolina's expanding manufacturing and industrial sectors. New Nursing Program Building: As part of USC Upstate's commitment to addressing the healthcare workforce shortage, construction is underway on a state-of-the-art facility dedicated to nursing education. The new building will include cutting-edge classrooms, simulation labs, and collaborative spaces to support the next generation of healthcare leaders. Track and Field Complex: The university is developing a new track and field complex to enhance its athletic programs, provide more opportunities for student-athletes, and foster school spirit and community engagement. "Carolina Day offers a unique opportunity to share our gratitude with those who have championed our mission," said Chancellor Bennie Harris. Students also expressed pride in representing USC Upstate at the event. "Carolina Day was an incredible experience. We met with our legislators to advocate for USC Upstate, and a few local representatives joined us during lunch. They shared advice on how to keep moving forward, ask the right questions, and even consider pursuing local politics," said Robin Dennis, USC Upstate Student Body Secretary. Carolina Day was a moment to strengthen the relationship between the university and state leaders. USC Upstate remains committed to providing high-quality education and innovative programs for the region and beyond.

Walmart hiring up to 200 additional associates for new hightech grocery distribution center in Spartanburg County

Walmart is hiring up to 200 more associates at its new Perishable Distribution Center, bringing the total number of jobs to around 500 when operations are fully ramped. Many of the roles are techfocused, including maintenance technicians and automation equipment operators.

"We're excited to bring this automated grocery distribution center to Spartanburg County and create even more cuttingedge job opportunities that lead to great careers at Walmart," said James Bright, general manager, Perishable Distribution Center #3010. The 725,000-square-foot facility will play a critical role in Walmart's supply chain, distributing perishable items – such as produce, eggs, dairy, flowers and frozen goods – to more than 100 Walmart stores across the area.

Wages for full-time hourly associates start at $19.90 per hour and can reach $34.20 an hour based on position, shift and schedule. Full-time positions qualify for Walmart's total rewards and benefits plans, including medical, vision and dental insurance, 401(k) matching, an associate stock purchase plan with a company match, a 10% associate discount, a free Walmart+ membership, paid time off and access to tuition-paid college degrees and skills certificates through Walmart's Live Better U.

Candidates can search for open positions and complete applications online at careers.walmart. com.

This event will be held on Thursday, February 27, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the Walmart Perishable Distribution Center, 1065 Fort Prince Blvd, Wellford, SC 29385.

Around South Carolina Eaton expands South Carolina footprint with new manufacturing facility in Union County

Eaton, a global leader in power management technologies, is growing its South Carolina footprint with new operations in Union County.

The company's $340 million investment will create 700 jobs and establish a new manufacturing facility for three-phase transformers, critical to the nation's power grid and across industries.

Eaton provides intelligent power management solutions for the data center, utility, industrial, commercial, machine building, residential, aerospace and mobility markets. The company serves customers in more than 160 countries.

Eaton's new Jonesville manufacturing site will be the company's 11th facility in South Carolina and its third manufacturing facility for three-phase transformers in the U.S.

Eaton will acquire and retrofit the 861,000square-foot facility at 3805 Furman L. Fendley Highway in Jonesville.

The new operation will manufacture three-phase transformers, which support grid modernization and are critical in providing secure and reliable distribution of power in utility infrastructure and commercial applications. Production and hiring in Jonesville are expected to begin in 2027. Currently, Eaton is hiring for existing positions at its other facilities in South Carolina, and individuals interested in joining the Eaton team should go to the company's careers page.

The company will work closely with readySC and regional schools to support hiring and industry training. The state's Coordinating Council for Economic Development approved job development credits related to the project.

The council also awarded a $10 million Rural Infrastructure Fund grant to Union County to assist with the costs of building improvements.

Said Eaton Electrical Sector Americas Region President Mike Yelton: "Electrical power demand is increasing dramatically, and our solutions are at the heart of energy systems everywhere, from the utility grid to industrials, data centers, buildings and more. Eaton is grateful for the strong collaboration and support in South Carolina, where we have a long history of manufacturing and innovation."

Yelton added, "Eaton is continuing to increase production and add jobs there and across the U.S. to support affordable, reliable and clean energy."

Heroes & Villains: The Art of the Disney Costume coming to State Museum in May Columbia - The South Carolina State Museum recently announced that tickets for the general public are now on sale for the upcoming blockbuster exhibition, Heroes & Villains: The Art of the Disney Costume, created by the Walt Disney Archives. Opening May 3, 2025, the critically acclaimed showcase features more than 70 costumes from some beloved live-action characters such as Cinderella, Maleficent, Jack Sparrow, and more, highlighting the innovative ways iconic characters are brought to life through the artistry and imagination of their costumes. "We look forward to bringing these amazing costumes to South Carolina and welcoming guests to enjoy seeing them in person," said State Museum Executive Director, Amy Bartow-Melia.

"We feel the exhibition will spark fond memories for guests of all ages."

Representing nearly six decades of film and television production at The Walt Disney Company, the exhibition showcases costumes worn by the likes of Bette Davis, Glenn Close, and Angelina Jolie. Guests will also get insight into how costumes evolve from concept to reality with quotes and detailed written accounts featured throughout the exhibition from some of Hollywood's preeminent designers. "Costumes are a significant and memorable element of building a character and telling a story," said Becky Cline, Director of the Walt Disney Archives. "The exhibition explores the craftsmanship required to produce these amazing costuming elements, as well as the immense talent and creativity that goes into every stitch." To mark the start of the exhibition, the State Museum will be hosting a series of special events leading up to the official opening day on Saturday, May 3. On Wednesday, April 30, members of D23: The Official Disney Fan Club will be invited to an exclusive preview celebration event. For more event details, and to learn how to join D23, visit D23.com.

South Carolina State exhibitions and displays Museum members will enjoy their own special night, featuring exclusive early entrance to the exhibition on Friday, May 2. In addition to accessing the exhibition early, members will also receive their own souvenir item, and light refreshments will be avail-housed within the historic Columbia Mills Building, the State Museum provides educational environments that entertain, inspire imagination and creativity, and enrich the lives of millions of visitors and generations of students from across South Carolina.
