The Spartanburg County Foundation

announces 12% investment portfolio gain for 2020 With a global pandemic shutting down much of the world's economy, 2020 was a very challenging year in the financial markets.

The effects of the shutdown resulted in steep losses in the financial markets during the first quarter, with the Dow falling 23% and the S&P 500 dropping 20%, by the end of the quarter.

At that time, the Foundation's Investment Portfolio was down 13.9%.

Working in concert, the Foundation's Investment Consultant, Prime Buchholz & Associates; the Investment Advisory Committee, Trustees and staff monitored the situation closely.

Relying on the Foundation's Investment Policy, our strategy-guided decision making during the subsequent months allowed the investment portfolio to fully recover by the end of the second quarter!

The Spartanburg County Foundation is pleased to report that for calendar year 2020, the investment portfolio gained 12.0%.

A toast to your health

One of the best things about writing a food and recipe column is the opportunity to introduce my family, friends and readers to something new. I also enjoy experimenting with new ingredients and products.

Recently, I discovered a wonderful line of naturally sweetened, zero-calorie beverages called Zevia. It's one of the first drink brands focused on healthy versions of sodas (14 different kinds), energy drinks (grapefruit, mango ginger, raspberry, lime and kola), sparking water (lime, blackberry, Mandarin orange and cucumber lemon), as well as a line of mixers, organic teas and Zevia Kidz.

So, what is Zevia Kidz? It's got the fizz of soda and the tangy sweet flavor of juice, but somehow it's neither. It keeps all the good stuff and leaves out all the bad with zero sugar and nothing artificial. Zevia formulas also are certified non-GMO, vegan, kosher, colorfree, gluten-free, keto and paleo-friendly. I served the Zevia Kidz to children ages 3 to 10, and they loved the taste and the colorful Disney characters on the cans.

While Zevia is a healthy and delicious drink, it's also great as a nutritious, zero-calorie ingredient in drink recipes, snacks, main course dishes and desserts. Use it to create a light, crispy batter for the Zevia Orange Cauliflower Poppers, as the salad dressing base for the Quinoa Salad and to give a wonderful strawberry flavor and sweetness to the batter for the Strawberry Almond Cobbler. It's the perfect way to cut calories to create a "new you" in the new year!

Representative John Lewis made lasting impression in meetings with Wofford staff, students

Courtesy of Wofford College The first time he saw U.S. Rep. John Lewis in person, James Stukes learned the truth about giants.

Giants come in all sizes.

"It was a surreal moment," says Stukes, the coordinator for college access and student success who helped lead a group of first-year Bonner Scholars and other Wofford students on trips to Washington, D.C., during Interim in 2018 and 2019. "We were in his office, and it was my first time being in the Capitol. He walked in and the first thing that struck me was seeing in the flesh how small (5-foot-6) he was, but realizing what a huge legacy he had built."

Lewis, who represented Georgia in Congress from 1987 until his death in July, was a key figure, along with Martin Luther King Jr., in the civil rights movement that sought to end segregation. He was one of the leaders who helped organize the 1963 March on Washington, and led a march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama, that resulted in state troopers and police attacking marchers, including Lewis, on the Edmund Pettus Bridge.

Lewis spoke to visitors from Wofford on several occasions. Sarah Hager, a 2011 graduate from Rock Hill, South Carolina, worked in Lewis' office and helped organize the congressman's meetings with the Wofford groups. Hager is now a senior communications associate with the American Federation of Teachers in the district.

"This may sound off since it is a professional workplace, but his office was like family," Hager says. "Really, hardly anyone left and hardly anyone new was hired. So, because of that, we were all very close. You can only do so much to 'demand' the congressman take such and such meeting, but I explained to him and his scheduler how important it was to meet with a group of students from Wofford as often as possible. He was familiar with Bonner Scholars and was happy to do so. He was inspired by their leadership and interest in the world."

Jessalyn Story, the director of the Center for Community-Based Learning, has led numerous trips to the capitol. Like Stukes, she says it was an emotional scene the first time she met Lewis, which was in 2017, days before President Donald Trump's inauguration.

Story says Lewis told the group about growing up in Alabama as the son of sharecroppers, and how his parents feared for his safety as he was growing up.

"One of the many things that struck me about each of the three visits with him was how generous he was with his time, even with students from a school three hours away from his district," Story says. "The 50 or so Wofford students who had the opportunity to spend time with him and learn from him over the years and I will carry that memory with us and be inspired by it for the rest of our lives."

There was no trip this month because of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. There are hopes that a trip will be held later this year. Story and Stukes, though, don't know who can fill the void left by Lewis' death.

For Hager, no one can. She first met Lewis at the home of Medgar Evers, another pioneer of the civil rights movement who was shot and killed by a white supremacist in 1963, and worked for him for five years.

"My life's biggest lessons will always be from him," she says. "He taught me perseverance in the face of adversity, patience, kindness, forgiveness but accountability. And more than all of that he taught me that despite the world's woes, you can always make time for fun. Activism is a lifetime's calling and you must never give up or give in. We're all in this thing together, trying to create what Dr. King called the Beloved Community. It's not the work of a day or a week, but a lifetime."

Despite pandemic, Greenville County continues to see strong, strategic growth into 2021

While COVID-19 dramatically impacted everyday life for all of us, development across Greenville County remained amazingly strong... a testament to years of sage planning, strategic recruiting and proactive business retention initiatives.

A major highlight is the start of work on the first piece of the planned $1 billion redevelopment of the 40-acre County Square site downtown. Greenville County broke ground recently on its new $66.8 million county administrative office building, a 5story tower with 250,000 square feet, keying a site to be filled with offices, restaurants, apartments and amenities. Among other highlights:

DC Blox is building a 45,000 square foot data center in Greenville's Global Business Park off I-85, expected to open in Q3 of 2021. The investment is estimated to be more than $200 million in the coming years.

The new $105 million Carroll A. Campbell Jr. Federal Courthouse and its 10-story shell is rising to a new presence on the downtown skyline.

million The $350

Greenville's new county administrative building will have a north and south tower constructed of steel and glass connected by a common terrace level.

Camperdown mixed-use 187-room project is finishing up after 5 years in the making. The 17-story tower with offices and condos overlooks the Peace Center and Falls Park, the AC Marriott hotel is nearing completion, a 10-story Deca apartment tower began renting to its first tenants, and across the river the Grand Bohemian Hotel has risen and will open this summer. The Big Dig -- a $50 million sewer project headed by Renewable Water Resources sewer utility is proceeding, and should serve the county's sewage needs for the next century. It all portends a strong and vibrant future for Greenville County and its a second hot isostatic citizens long into the future. ***

Also:

* One year after expanding its Garlington Road facility, Greenville's Accurate Brazing is doubling its capacity again to serve the aerospace and medical industries, adding press, investing $5 million and adding more jobs.

* Willis Meadows has been voted to serve as Chairman of Greenville County Council. A longtime resident of District 19 and a owner of Willis Meadows Insurance, he succeeds longtime Chairman Butch Kirven in his new role.

* GADC Project Manager Tavia Gaddy was honored by Bausch & Lomb Greenville executives Michael Schrader and Kay Standridge with its inaugural Trusted Partner Award for helping the organization successfully compete for a multimillion-dollar capital investment and expansion by their parent organization, and for helping attain special County support. The 500-person facility has enjoyed expansions numerous since breaking ground here in 1983.

* The U.S. Air Force awarded a $900 million F-16 depot contract to Lockheed Martin Aeronatics and its operations facility at the SCTAC campus in Greenville. Lockheed Martin Greenville now will both produce and maintain F-16s, and establishes the first ever U.S.based F-16 industry depot. Lockheed expects to add 50 to 80 new jobs in Greenville as a result.

GADC CEO Mark Farris has again been named to Greenville Business Magazine's 50 Most Influential list for 2020... his third consecutive year on the list.

time, which is why it's really important for everyone to come together to help fight hunger," says Casey Marsh, chief development officer for Feeding America, the nation's largest domestic hungerrelief organization.

Fortunately, efforts are being made to meet the sharp rise in food insecurity. As part of its "Many Hearts, One Community." campaign, Wells Fargo fulfilled its commitment to help provide 82 million meals to families in need through the Feeding America network of 200 food banks during the holidays. This was a continuation of a decade-long relationship with the Feeding America network which, since the start of the pandemic, has included efforts such as turning Wells Fargo corporate properties and branch locations into mobile food distribution centers. Additionally, the company made grants over the holiday season to food banks operating in Wells Fargo's global footprint.

Don't let heartburn sideline you during the big game

(StatePoint) It is hard to imagine the Big Game without hot wings, zesty delivery pizza or homemade buffalo chicken dip, despite the anticipated heartburn that might follow. On top of all your favorite rich and spicy foods is the anxiety you may get from the game itself, not to mention the built-up stress associated with the past year.

With stress increasingly being recognized as a contributing factor to heartburn, taking steps to mitigate symptoms can help you better enjoy the game, especially as this year is shaping up to be more unpredictable – and therefore more stressful – than ever.

"This unprecedented year is generating anxiety and stress for all those involved in the planning leading up to the Big Game, from event coordinators to the players, advertisers, and fans," says Kenny White, a sports analyst and legendary oddsmaker known as the "Wizard of Odds." "But die-hard football fans and casual viewers alike could use some of this uncertainty to actually enjoy the whole Big Game experience even more than in previous years."

De-Stress with a Little Fun

To stress less, look for ways to have a bit of extra fun around the Big Game. For example, TUMS, the brand that celebrated "TUMSworthy" moments during the game last year, will be launching a new bingo experience on February 1. To participate, download your game board at @TUMSOfficial and follow it during the game. Delivery pizza arrives with the wrong toppings? Out of chicken wings? Fumble on the field? Scorching dip? Examples such as these represent could а #TUMSworthy moment on your bingo board. Players who complete B-I-N-G-O by the end of the game are entered into a drawing to win up to $55,000 in prizes. "While the Big Game will once again be full of uncertainties, creative propositions such as the #TUMSBingoSweepstakes can make the whole experience more fun for fans and non-fans alike," says White.

Beat Symptoms

Generally characterized by a burning sensation in the chest, other signs of heartburn include acid indigestion, sour stomach, and upset stomach associated with these symptoms. But you can take action to reduce this discomfort, whether ordering from your favorite restaurant or testing out that new buffalo chicken dip recipe that you have been eager to try.

Because eating too fast can contribute to heartburn, one of the most effective ways to alleviate symptoms is to take time to savor all those tasty snacks. Also, consider mixing up your spread with a few items you know are not heartburn triggers.

You might also want to make spectating more active. When you lie flat, your esophagus and stomach are on an even plane, making it easy for stomach acids to flow into your esophagus, which can cause heartburn. Sitting at a 45degree angle could compress your stomach and make things worse. So, try to get up and move around between plays.

You can also turn to America's #1 heartburn brand TUMS and have some TUMS Chewy Bites on hand. With a main ingredient of calcium carbonate, delivering fast-acting multisymptom relief, and neutralizing acid on contact to treat the signs of heartburn, TUMS goes to work in seconds to deliver heartburn relief. To learn more, and for more heartburn relief tips, visit tums.com.

This Big Game, relax and have fun. With a smart game plan, there is no need to be sidelined by heartburn.

Top tips for getting organized before filing your taxes this year

(StatePoint) 2020 was a particularly stressful year -- but filing its taxes doesn't need to be. With the following tips, you can stay organized and coolheaded throughout the process.

File Early

File early so you check this major to-do off your list and relax. The good news is that the sooner you file, the better. This is true no matter what your circumstances are. If you owe money, you'll have that much more time to plan your payment. If you're due for a refund, filing sooner means you'll have your money sooner, money which can be used to pay bills, be invested or be added to a rainy day fund. To that end, take some time to glance at your overall financial picture so you can make a smart game plan for directing your refund usefully.

Check Your Work A multi-functional printing calculator with a 12digit display can help you check your work and track and manage any necessary calculations, while ensuring your figures aren't truncated. Look for a model that prints in two colors, such as Casio's ture to HR-170RC, so you can frequired quickly see both positive pull i and negative numbers to avoid reading errors. If that a you have any international up to holdings, this is a musthave tax season tool, as its functions include currency exchange. This model You also has a built-in tax feature that lets you store a frequently-used rate and pull it up when needed, as well as a check function that allows you to scroll up to 150 steps of previous calculations.

Stay Secure Your financials and personal data are especially vulnerable during tax season. Be sure to keep all the paperwork associated with your taxes organized securely. As forms arrive by mail, file them neatly in one place that's locked and secure. Sensitive information can easily be misused if it falls into the wrong hands. If you're storing information electronically, be sure to use strong passwords and work only on a secure network.

By giving yourself the right tools and plenty of time, you can better ensure timely, accurate tax preparation.

 On Feb. 14, 278 A.D., Valentine, a holy priest in Rome, is executed. Ruler Claudius the Cruel was having difficultly getting soldiers to join his military because of their strong attachment to their wives, and had banned marriages. Valentine continued to perform marriages in secret and was beheaded for it.

 On Feb. 10, 1846, Brigham Young leaves Nauvoo, Illinois, and begins leading 1,600 Mormons west across the frozen Mississippi to a temporary refuge at Sugar Grove, Iowa. It was their first stop in a westward migration that eventually brought 12,000 of them to the Great Salt Lake in Utah.

 On Feb. 12, 1912, Hsian-T'ung, the last emperor of China, is forced to abdicate. A provisional government was established, ending 267 years of Manchu rule in China and 2,000 years of imperial rule. The emperor was only 6 years old.

• On Feb. 13, 1920, The League of Nations, the international organization formed at the peace conference at Versailles in the wake of World War I, recognizes the perpetual neutrality of Switzerland.

• On Feb. 9, 1964, America meets the Beatles on "The Ed Sullivan Show," with an estimated 73 million Americans watching as the group made its live U.S. television debut. When they sang "She Loves You," the audience exploded in what was perhaps the most important 2 minutes and 16 seconds of music ever broadcast on American television.

 On Feb. 8, 1983, gunmen steal champion Irish racehorse Shergar in County Kildare, Ireland. The 5-yearold thoroughbred stallion was worth $13.5 million. A $2 million ransom demand was never paid, and Shergar was never seen again.

VA Is Rolling Out the COVID Vaccine

As of this writing, the Department of Veterans Affairs has given more COVID vaccine shots than multiple U.S. states added together. The VA started with 37 vaccination sites, quickly expanded to an additional 128 sites, and at this point has grown to 195 sites.

It followed a COVID-19 Vaccine Distribution Plan first conceived in September and firmed up in early December. In other words, they were ready the minute the vaccine was. But the states are struggling with their logistics. How and why this is, no one seems to be explaining. The VA plan followed three basic steps: Lower the risk of infection and spread, make staff and veterans the highest priority, and ensure distribution is fair, transparent and aimed at maximizing the benefits of the vaccine. The detailed plan included lists of what needs to be done and who's doing it.

What's so hard about that? You have to do your part, though.

Yes, the initial doses are being given to medical staff and patients in VA hospitals. But I've already heard of vaccines being offered to veterans in general who are not hospitalized. To do that the VA will need to contact you. Call your health care team and be sure they have your current contact information. Also, if you have not yet taken the flu shot, ask if there is a required time delay between a flu shot and the COVID vaccine.

What we don't want to hear about the COVID vaccine is this: Even after getting the vaccine (and the second dose), you'll still need to beware. Wear your mask, scrub your hands (for one full minute, please) and stay out of risky situations. This will likely go on until a large percentage of the population has received the vaccine.

For updates, check this website: www.va.gov/health-care/covid-19vaccine.

4 Ways to uplift small business in your community

(StatePoint) With nearly half of all Americans employed by a small business, these establishments need our support more than ever.

According to the latest Wells Fargo/Gallup Small Business Index, 46 percent of business owners surveyed have seen a drop in revenue over the past 12 months, with some entrepreneurs seeing even more severe impact.

"Small businesses are at the heart of our communities and the key to millions of jobs," says Steve Troutner, head of Small Business, Wells Fargo. "Keeping spending dollars in local communities is an impactful way to rally around small business owners.'

Wells Fargo is sharing four ways to uplift small businesses near you:

1. Shop local. While onestop shopping on leading ecommerce sites can be tempting, the simple act of purchasing something from your favorite local retailer can go a long way in keeping business afloat and money in your community. Returning or exchanging gifts? Ask for store credit instead of cash. It helps keep money with a small business and makes their cash flow more stable.

Many shops have safety measures in place, such as limiting occupancy or offering contactless pick-up.

2. Eat local. Support your neighbors by dining at locally-owned establishments. Getting takeout or having food delivered? Order directly from the restaurant rather than through third-party sites that take a cut. When it comes to food shopping, opt for neighborhood grocers, which often carry produce from small familyowned farms and other goods. locally-sourced Many offer the same curbside pickup and delivery options as major chains.

3. Uplift diverse-owned businesses. Keep in mind that minority- and womenowned businesses have been hard hit by COVID-19. Many are counting on your patronage to survive.

To help entrepreneurs stay open and support local jobs, Wells Fargo is deploying approximately $400 million from its Open for Business Fund to nonprofits serving small businesses. The initiative focuses on increasing access to training and flexible capital that businesses can use for rent, utilities, payroll and other business needs. If you are a business owner looking for assistance and resources, visit wellsfargo.com/shoplocal to learn more.

4. Shine a light on your favorite business. Whether it's expanding outdoor patios and installing heat lamps or updating tech to facilitate contactless checkout, small businesses have had to get creative to stay relevant. One simple way of supporting businesses as they make these changes is to follow them on social media and give positive reviews on websites like Yelp.

As part of its "Many hearts. One community" campaign, Wells Fargo is highlighting the determination, resilience and creativity that so many small business have shown this past year.

"Community has meant everything to me," says Kadijatu Ahene, owner of Dija's Touch Designs, which benefitted from Wells Fargo and Local Initiatives Support Corporation working together. "The challenges we're dealing with have brought us closer. Whether its friends and neighbors checking on me and my girls, delivering food and more, COVID has reminded us that we need each other to move forward in unity."
