inaugural Josh Lee Memorial Mighty Moo 5K to be held June 18th

The Inaugural Josh Lee Memorial Mighty Moo 5K, will be held on Saturday, June 18 at 8 a.m. at the Mighty Moo Festival in Cowpens.

Proceeds from the race will be donated to the Josh Lee Memorial Scholarship Fund at the University of South Carolina Upstate.

Josh Lee, along with three fellow student athletes, was killed in a car accident on October 11, 2015.

His parents, Laurie and Johnny Lee, established the Josh Lee Memorial Scholarship Fund to honor their son and to pay it forward for future track and field student athletes. Criteria for receiving the scholarship include: be a member of cross country or track team, have a minimum 3.0 GPA and completed 30 credit hours at USC Upstate.

A native of Spartanburg, Josh graduated from Broome High School in 2013 and worked at White's Pine Street Exxon. He was a junior at USC Upstate where he majored in physical education and served as an orientation leader.

The Inaugural Josh Lee Memorial Mighty Moo 5K is being organized by friends of the Lee Family - The Cheshiers and the Voelkers. For more details, contact Meg Cheshier at Mchesh@spartanburg3.org

Senator Glenn Reese receives Legislator of the Year award

The South Carolina Staffing Association (SCSA) announced that South Carolina Senator Glenn Reese was honored as the South Carolina Staffing Association's 2016 Legislator of the Year. This award is given to an elected official for his or her support of job creation, capital investment and economic development. It is also given to an elected official for his or her support of the staffing industry.

"Senator Reese has been a consistent supporter of issues related to better policy that leads to more jobs," said SCSA President John Byrnes. "As an influential member of the Senate and champion of businesses and their employees, Senator Reese is most deserving of this award. We look forward to fighting for more jobs with Senator Reese for years to come."

Previous award winners include the late Senator Billy O'Dell, Senator Thomas Alexander and Representative Brian White. The award was presented to Senator Reese at the SCSA Annual Banquet and Dinner this week in the Upstate.

SunTrust sponsors Youth Art Month at Chapman

SunTrust bank recently renewed its commitment to arts education in Spartanburg by donating $3,500 to sponsor Youth Art Month (March) at Chapman Cultural Center. SunTrust (and its previous owners) has donated to the arts in Spartanburg since 1987 and given to Youth Art Month since 2010.

Presenting the check was Kimberly SunTrust's Jolley, City President/First Vice President. "SunTrust is proud to support Youth Art Month at Chapman Cultural Center," Jolley said. "Throughout our rich history, SunTrust has always been very supportive of the arts. In the Upstate, Chapman Cultural Center plays a vital role in the presentation of the arts to the students in our schools. In partnering with Chapman Cultural Center, we believe that encouraging students to be more creative is right in line with SunTrust's mission of helping people and institutions prosper."

"We are very grateful for the generous SunTrust sponsorship of our arts education programs," Chapman's Director of Arts Education Ava Hughes said. "In addition to the annual Youth Art Month exhibition and celebration, our arts education residencies and Muse Machine programs serve students throughout the year. In 2015-16, our inschool programs reached over 36,000 students and teachers. In addition, rotating exhibitions of student art are displayed at Chapman Cultural Center all year, and feature work from every public school and many private schools and community organizations through Spartanburg County." During Youth Art Month, all of the schools in Spartanburg County have student-made art on exhibit at Chapman Cultural Center.

Local rhythm and blues musician Travis Smith will be the guest artist at Chapman Cultural Center this Sunday, June 12, 2 - 4 p.m., presenting a free concert as part of the venue's weekly Sundays Unplugged program.

Smith has been featured on TV's Your Carolina morning show and taken to the stage throughout South Carolina, North Carolina, and Georgia, including at Fall for Greenville, Bele Chere (Ashville, NC), and The Cherry Blossom Festival (Macon, GA). Every Sunday, 1 - 5 p.m. Chapman Cultural Center is open giving patrons a no stress opportunity to enjoy local culture and arts. Open and free are Spartanburg Art Museum, Artists' Guild of Spartanburg Gallery, and Spartanburg Regional History Museum. Also, local artists often set up booths in the plaza and sell their work directly to the public. For more information about Sundays Unplugged, please call 864.542.ARTS.

Telling your kids you're proud of them

From the American Counseling Association

As parents most of us are proud of our children but recent studies have found that we don't always do a good job of communicating that feeling. That's unfortunate because when kids are aware of the pride their parents have in them the result is usually a much stronger relationship. And a stronger relationship can be important as our kids get older, want more independence and often find themselves in conflict with parental rules and regulations.

So how does one go about effectively communicating the pride that you feel for a son or daughter? One starting point is not to praise everything, especially the low-effort accomplishments that your child knows isn't really worthy of praise ("Great job of finishing that bowl of cereal, kiddo!").

Offering praise for things that really aren't challenging and really aren't much of an accomplishment ends up turning all of our praise into "white noise," background words that don't carry much meaning or worth and which our kids often ignore. One hint that experts offer on effective ways to communicate pride in your child is to focus on the process, rather than simply on the outcome. When a child is working hard and putting in extra effort, a parent offering praise is heard and appreciated. What you are doing is highlighting the effort and initiative of your child, rather than focusing on only the results.

When we praise our kids for putting in that extra effort, it becomes a reward that reinforces the work they're doing and makes it more likely that they will want to continue to try as hard in the future.

It's important not to simply assume that our kids are aware that we're proud of them. And it is also important to find a correct balance between offering too little or too much praise. We have to recognize when a child is pushing himself or herself to try something new or to work a little harder. That's the time to compliment and let your child see how pleased you are of the effort they're making. The end result may not be a first place trophy or any measurable success, but you want your child to know you're proud of his or her trying.

It's important for parents to be proud of their children and what they do. But it's even more important that that pride is clearly communicated.

McCormick honored as Economic Ambassador for 2016

Greenville McCormick, Vice President and Technical Plant Leader of Bosch Rexorth, has been named Greenville County's 2016 Economic Development Ambassador.

The formal announcement was made at the Governor's Mansion in Columbia on April 28 during ceremonies as South Carolina celebrated its annual Industry Appreciation Week. Governor Nikki Haley individually recognized Mr. McCormick and 45 other Ambassadors, one from each county in the state, who have made exceptional contributions to community and state economic development in the past year.

Industry Appreciation Week is celebrated to express thanks to companies for their contributions to local communities, to honor economic development leaders, and to build awareness that existing business is a fundamental driver of both local and state economies.

"No one is a bigger proponent of workforce develthan Mike McCormick," said GADC President & CEO Mark Farris. "Bosch Rexroth was an early adopter of ApprenticeshipSC and has its own apprenticeship lab on site. Mike participates in community workforce initiatives at both CU-ICAR and Greenville Technical College and is frequently a spokesperson for the greater manufacturing community on workforce needs. Further, since 2012 his company has contributed over $600,000 to education and participates directly in initiatives to promote advanced manufacturing such as sponsoring students in robotics competitions."

Under Mike's leadership, the 700 employee site has grown from one facility hydraulic producing pumps and motors to three, is the largest hydraulics manufacturing site in the U.S., and includes all aspects of the mobile hydraulics business: engineering, sales, purchasing, manufacturing, and service. A recent addition includes adding a new proving ground that will give his company the ability to test their products on their customers' equipment-meaning quicker innovation.

Mike joined Robert Bosch Corporation in 1988 and has served as Vice President and Plant Manager for Bosch Rexroth in Fountain Inn since 2008.

The Greenville Area Development Corporation is a non-profit organization established by Greenville County Council to promote and enhance the economic growth and development of Greenville County. Since its founding in 2001, GADC efforts have resulted in the creation of more than 16,500 new jobs and more than $2.8 billion in capital investment in Greenville County. ### Sioux Chief Manufacturing investing $2.5 million in Cherokee County

Columbia - Sioux Chief Manufacturing, a leading manufacturer of rough plumbing fixtures, is establishing operations in Cherokee County. The new development is expected to bring $2.5 million of new capital investment and lead to the creation of 77 new jobs. An affiliated Sioux Chief Company, Tribal Manufacturing, will run the operation.

Founded in 1957, Sioux Chief Manufacturing is an advanced manufacturer of plumbing, heating and water quality products for residential, industrial and commercial applications. The company designs, builds and maintains its own machines and equipment to ensure that exact product tolerances are achieved.

"We are very excited about the opportunities at the Chesnee, S.C. operation. A great network of people here in South Carolina have supported us, and we are proud to be a part of Cherokee County and operate in the fine state of South Carolina. We have aggressive growth plans, and have already begun working with our customers and future customers to re-shore many of their products. We are proud to be an American manufacturer and we believe strongly in providing a work environment based on integrity and family values. The climate in South Carolina promotes those values and ethics, and we look forward to many successful years," stated President of Sioux Chief Manufacturing Joseph N. Ismert.

South Carolina Governor Nikki Haley added, "We 2. $2.5 million investment to bring 77 new jobs.

Top driving distractions revealed as "100 Deadliest Days' begin

Charlotte, N.C. - Over the past five years, more than 5,000 people have been killed in crashes involving teen drivers during the "100 Deadliest Days," the period starting at Memorial Day when teen crash deaths historically climb. As the summer driving season begins, the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety is releasing a follow-up study confirming that nearly 60 percent of teen crashes involve distractions behind the wheel. The research also finds a disturbing trend showing that texting and social media use are on the rise amongst teen drivers.

Crashes for teen drivers increase significantly during the summer months because teens drive more during this time of year. The average number of deaths from crashes involving teen drivers ages 16-19 increased by 16 percent per day compared to other days of the year in the past five years during the "100 Deadliest Days". Since 2010, 509 people in North Carolina have died in crashes involving teen drivers. Just in 2015, 66 teens (age 15-19) died in traffic collisions in South Carolina.

This year's new followup report from the AAA Foundation is part of the most comprehensive eightyear research project ever conducted into crash videos of teen drivers. In collaboration with researchers at the University of analyzed the moments leading up to a crash in more than 2,200 videos captured from in-car dash cameras. The latest report compared new videos with those captured from 2007 -2012 and found consistent trends in the top three distractions for teens when behind the wheel in the moments leading up to

- * Talking or attending to other passengers in the vehicle: 15 percent of
- * Talking, texting or operating a cell phone: 12 percent of crashes
- * Attending to or looking at something inside the vehicle: 11 percent of

Since 2010, 16,662 people in North Carolina have been injured in teen distracted driving related crashes.

"This new research shows that distraction continues to be one of the leading causes of crashes for teen drivers. By better understanding how teens are distracted on the road and reminding them to disconnect and drive, we can Iowa, the AAA Foundation better prevent deaths throughout the Deadliest Days and the rest of the year," said AAA Carolinas President and CEO Dave Parsons.

> Researchers also found that how teens use their cell phone when behind the wheel changed significantly over the course of the study. In the moments leading up to a crash, teens were more likely to be texting or looking down at the phone than talking on it. This supports findings by Pew Research Center, which shows text messaging has become a key component in day-to-day interactions amongst teenagers. Fifty-five percent of teens spend time every day texting, sending an estimated 80 text messages per day.

"It's no secret that teens are extremely connected to their cell phones," said Tiffany Wright President of AAA Carolinas Traffic Safety Foundation. "Many teens are texting or using social media behind the wheel more often than in the past, which is making an unsafe situation even

Research by the Virginia

Transportation Institute found that texting creates a crash risk 23 times worse than driving while not distracted. A recent AAA Foundation survey shows that nearly 50 percent of teen drivers admitted they had read a text message or email while driving in the past 30 days. NHTSA's National Occupant Protection Use Survey also shows that from 2007 to 2014, the percentage of young drivers seen visibly manipulating a hand-held device quadru-

- In preparation for the "100 Deadliest Days", AAA encourages parents to educate their teen about the dangers of distracted driving and monitor their actions behind the wheel. Parents should:
- * Have conversations early and often about the dangers of distraction.
- * Make a parent-teen driving agreement that sets family rules against distracted driving.
- * Teach by example and minimize distractions when driving.

TeenDriving.AAA.com has a variety of tools to help prepare parents and teens for the dangerous summer driving season. The online AAA Start-Smart program also offers great resources for parents on how to become effective in-car coaches as well as advice on how to manage their teen's overall driving privileges. Teens preparing for the responsibility of driving should enroll in a safety skills.

- 1. Fully focus on driving and don't allow any activity to divert your attention. Actively scan the road, use your mirrors and watch out pedestrians cyclists.
- 2. Store loose items that could roll around in the car, so you don't feel tempted to reach for them on the floor or the seat.
- 3. Make adjustments before your drive. Address vehicle systems like your GPS, seats, mirrors, climate controls and sound systems before hitting the road. Decide on your route and check traffic conditions ahead of time.

- 4. Finish dressing and personal grooming at home - before you get on the
- 5. Snack smart. If possible, eat meals or snacks before or after your trip, not while driving.
- 6. Secure children and pets before getting underway. If they need your attention, pull off the road safely to care for them. Reaching into the back seat can cause you to lose control of the vehicle.
- 7. Don't use cell phones while driving - handheld or hands-free - except in absolute emergencies. Never use text messaging, email functions, video games or the Internet with a wireless device, including those built into the vehicle, while driving.
- 8. If you have passengers, enlist their help so you can focus safely on driving.
- 9. If another activity demands your attention, instead of trying to attempt it while driving, pull off the road and stop your vehicle in a safe place. To avoid temptation, power down or stow devices before heading out.
- 10. As a general rule, if you cannot devote your full attention to driving because of another activity, it's a distraction. Take care of it before or after your trip, not while driving behind the wheel.

'This program is life changing' - Project SEARCH spreads throughout South Carolina

Four Upstate South student interns job skills Carolina organizations teamed together to bring the first Project SEARCH program to South Carolina in

Now, school systems across the state are following the lead of Dorman High School, Spartanburg Healthcare Regional System, Vocational Rehabilitation Department and Upstate Workforce Investment Board in developing their own Project SEARCH internship programs for young adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities. School District 5 of Lexington and Richland counties started their program in 2015.

"We visited Spartanburg Medical Center several times and talked to educators, job coaches and hospital staff," said Angie Slatton, PhD, Director of Special Services for School District 5 of Lexington and Richland Counties. "Spartanburg Regional Healthcare System's experience and success was key to moving forward with our project. The Spartanburg team started a program that I believe will grow into partnerships and new programs all over the state." The School District of Pickens County starting their first Project SEARCH in the fall of 2016.

"Quite simply, our students with disabilities need to have more opportunities gainful life-long employment. Project SEARCH had this as its mission, it was a partnership that we needed to make happen," said Cathy Ashton, director of Special Services for the School District of Pickens County. Project SEARCH teaches and work ethics, but also builds character and confidence, according to Sam Napier, Spartanburg Medical Center and Dorman High Project SEARCH instructor.

"This program is life changing," Napier said. "It's so successful because the hospital is so gracious in giving students the opportunity to show what they can do. We see growth as the students deal with adult. business situations."

On Monday, May 23, Spartanburg's second Project SEARCH class graduated eight students, all of whom are employed with jobs across the Upstate:

Trio of Spartans earn A-Sun postseason awards

Macon, Ga. - Senior outfielder Cody Brittain, junior pitcher Tyler Jackson and freshman infielder Devon Ortiz each earned Atlantic Sun postseason honors as the conference announced annual awards on Tuesday. Ortiz was named the league's Freshman of the Year and earned a spot on the All-Freshman Team, while Brittain and Jackson were each named Second Team All-Conference.

Brittain earned Second Team honors as an outfielder after batting .343 in 181 at bats. He tied for the leaguelead with five triples, and led the Spartans in runs scored (38), extra-base hits (22), multi-hit games (21) and multi-RBI games (11). Brittain was named the A-Sun Player of the Week on March 28 after he went 8for-15 with four extra-base hits in three games the previous week. Ortiz is the first Spartan to be named Freshman of the Year in school history and sixth to earn a spot on the All-Freshman Team. After making his first appearance on March 18 against Radford, Ortiz finished the season with a team-leading .352 batting average with 37 hits, five triples and 18 RBI in 105 at-bats. Ortiz went 12-for-25 with seven runs scored, seven RBI, two doubles and a triple in his first six games. He had 13 multihit games and five multi-RBI games with a careerhigh four runs during Upstate's 21-18 victory over FGCU on May 8. On May 19 against Jacksonville, Ortiz had the game-winning single to give Upstate a 4-3 victory in 10 innings. A native of Winter Springs, Fla., Ortiz tied for the teamand league-lead with five on the team with six stolen during percentage and helped turn 11 double plays.
