BMW expanding operations in Spartanburg County with new press shop, 200 new jobs

BMW announced recently that it will invest more than $200 million to construct a 219,000-squarefoot press shop at its South Carolina plant. The investment includes more than 200 new jobs. The announcement was made by BMW Manufacturing President and CEO Dr. Robert Engelhorn at the South Carolina Automotive Summit in Greenville.

The new press shop, which will start production in the summer of 2024, will take raw coils of steel, cut them into blanks, and stamp sheet metal parts for future BMW models. Those components include hang-on parts such as the vehicle's four doors, fenders, exterior body sides, and lift gate.

"The BMW Group is known worldwide for the outstanding quality produced by its press shops. We are excited to add this new technology to Plant Spartanburg," said Dr. Engelhorn. "This investment reinforces BMW's commitment in the United States and South Carolina. We continue to play a major role in the region's economic strength as well as workforce development and job training."

"BMW's presence in South Carolina for nearly three decades has driven the dramatic growth of our automotive industry and paved the way to our state's global reputation as an automotive powerhouse," said South Carolina Governor Henry McMaster. "This announcement is another testament BMW's commitment to our state. Congratulations to BMW on their continued success."

"As the home of BMW's manufacturing operation in the world, we are proud to be a part of BMW's history and plans for the future," said South Carolina Secretary of Commerce Harry Lightsey III. "BMW is a true steward of their community, and this latest investment in their operations and employees is reason to celebrate. We know that BMW will continue to accomplish great things in our state."

Highly-Skilled Manufacturing Jobs

A state-of-the-art press shop requires manufacturing jobs with advancedlevel training. These jobs include tool and die technicians, electrical and mechanical maintenance for automated machinery, and specialized line operators. More than 45 Plant Spartanburg associates are currently training at BMW Group press shops in Leipzig, Germany, and Swindon, England. These associates also train with partners from the Schuler Group, a globally-recognized company that manufactures automated servo press lines for all BMW

Group plants. "Inside our global production network, we share best practices and train associates to the highest BMW standards. The cross-functional collaboration is part of our BMW culture," said Karl Loessl, vice president, Body Shop. "This world-class training will allow our associates to work with advanced technologies and systems and support our production of future models."

Inside the New High-

Tech Press Shop The press shop marks the beginning of the automotive production process. Large steel coils arrive at the press shop, where they are unloaded from trucks using 55-ton overhead cranes. The steel coils are then fed into the Blanking Line, where the steel is cut into individual "blanks" (rectangular cutoffs or special shapes). These blanks are then ready to be fed into the Press Line.

Plant Spartanburg's Press Line will consist of five press (stamping) stations. The line will be equipped with servo technology, which enables BMW to significantly increase the output performance of the presses.

Using an overhead crane, each station is loaded with the correct press tool (die). The blank is fed into the first press station and transferred from one station to the next by a crossbar feeder robot for additional forming and trimming operations. The press line is capable of running up to 18 strokes per minute. After the parts are stamped, they go to quality control for inspection and are then stacked into racks ready for delivery to the body shop production line. "Having a press shop onsite is part of BMW's localization strategy where we produce our major parts at the location where we need them," said Dr Engelhorn. "This ensures the highest quality, efficiency, and consistency in body shop parts for our customers."

While Schuler will manufacture the automated press line, all tooling for Plant Spartanburg's press shop will come from BMW tool shops in Eisenach, Munich, and Dingolfing.

Since 1992, the BMW Group has invested nearly $12 billion in its South Carolina operations. BMW Manufacturing is the largest BMW Group plant in the world, producing more than 1,500 vehicles each day and 433,810 vehicles in 2021, a record. The plant exports nearly 60 percent of its vehicles to about 120 global markets. For eight consecutive years, it has been the largest exporter by value in the United States. The model portfolio includes five top-selling BMW X models, four Motorsport X models, and two plug-in hybrid electric vehicle X models. The all-new BMW XM, the first electrified high-performance hybrid model in the BMW M portfolio, will begin production in late 2022. The factory has an annual production capacity of up to 450,000 vehicles and employs more than 11,000 people.

St. Patrick's Day

St. Patrick's Day is celebrated each year on March 17 in the United States, but collectors found few postcards, greeting cards or objects to collect before 1900. The first St. Patrick's Day parade is said to have taken place in 1601 in St. Augustine, Florida. But a major event is the New York City parade, which started in 1762.

St. Patrick, the patron saint of Ireland, was born in Roman Britain and kidnapped in the late fourth century, when he was 14 years old. He was taken to Ireland as a slave, but he escaped in 431 A.D. and converted the Irish to Christianity. Parties, dances, drinking and celebrations started about 1600.

There have been many symbols of the past celebrations to collect. The leprechaun is an important symbol. The mischievous, redhaired elf is usually pictured in a top hat, green jacket, tie and vest standing with a pot of gold at the end of a rainbow. He represents the magic of fairies and the little people, and you are lucky if you find him and the gold.

Q: What are the symbols of St. Patrick's Day, besides the leprechaun with the bucket of gold?

A: The shamrock is the first plant of spring in Ireland and represents rebirth. By the 17th century, it was the emblem of Ireland. The Celtic harp is another important emblem: It appears on the presidential seal, passports, official documents and coins.

A surprising number of symbols are food. Corned beef and cabbage are the traditional dinner. The corned beef is the leftover meat from the sailing ships. It was a cheap substitute for bacon bought by poor immigrants. Shepherd's pie and soda bread also were inexpensive substitutes. Today, we also get green bagels and green beer. Save anything that pictures or represents these things as well as the religious symbols of the day. More collectibles are being made, displayed and kept each year.

Life sciences leader Stomagienics expanding in Greenville County, making significant investment and adding 30 new jobs

Stomagienics, Inc., a company that provides innovative solutions for cancer survivors and others who have undergone ostomy surgery, recently announced expansion of operations in Greenville County. The company's undisclosed investment is expected to result in growth including creation of 30 new jobs over 3 years.

"The support and resources made available to us through state and local programs, along with outstanding private sector talent, have been instrumental in our development, and make Greenville, South Carolina a great place to start and grow a business," said Theresa Johnson, Cofounder and COO of Stomagienics. "We have gained access to project grants, intellectual property development, Medicare reimbursement expertise and connections to leading universities, clinical staff, and life sciences professionals. Our partnerships with SCBIO, GADC, SCRA and NEXT are all positive factors as we seek capital to reach the next level in our development."

Launched in 2018, Stomagienics is committed to delivering products that are easy-to-use and essential to ostomy care. The founders realized the enormous gap in ostomy care when a family member had ostomy surgery entered a deep depression. The lack of control over stoma output led to the company's patented StomaGenie pouch replacement cartridge, which gives ostomy patients control of output and sanitary experience. "When a homegrown company experiences success within our borders, all of South Carolina wins. We are particularly proud of the fantastic work Stomagienics is doing every day to improve the lives of people around the world. We congratulate Stomagienics and look forward to many more years of their success," said South Carolina Gov. Henry McMaster.

Stomagienics provides solutions for cancer survivors and others who have undergone ostomy surgery.

Stomagienics' expansion includes facilities and equipment for sales and operations, production of its StomaGenie pouch replacement cartridge, and research and development investment.

"South Carolina's life sciences industry is booming, and today's announcement by Stomagienics in Greenville County is just the latest example," noted Secretary of Commerce Harry M. Lightsey III . "Their expansion not only proves that South Carolina has the business environment where life sciences companies can succeed, but that we have the talented workforce in place to handle the most innovative iobs."

With a mission to improve the lives of ostomy patients everywhere by helping them manage their ostomy, the Stomagienics team created a revolutionary device for pouch replacement that has helped many patients return to a more normal life. Stomagienics also found a ready market for its innovative product. More than 35% of ostomy patients experienced a peristomal skin complication during the first 90 days after surgery, while over 80% experience some type of complication within two years of their surgery – driving up costs and impacting patient outcomes. "It is particularly rewarding when a home-grown organization like Stomagienics chooses to grow and expand its presence in Greenville County, said Willis Meadows, County Council Chairman and Greenville Area Development Corporation Board Member. This is evidence that our strategic focus on helping existing industry grow is paying off, and that our strategic emphasis on medical devices and life science organizations are producing results. We congratulate Stomagienics on this major step forward and wish them continued success into the future."

The Stomagienics solutions improves hygiene, promotes better skin health condition, enhances patient independence and self-confidence, the company reports. The company is dedicated to continuing innovation initiatives to create and produce new and advanced

SCAM ALERT: Miracle House of Hope Ministries illegally soliciting in South Carolina

Columbia - Recently Secretary of State Mark Hammond issued a warning for South Carolina residents about Miracle House of Hope Ministries. a Charlotte, North Carolina-based organization that purports to help homeless drug addicts. "Despite being banned from soliciting in South Carolina, Miracle House of Hope Ministries continues to send solicitors into our state to exploit our generosity," said Secretary Hammond. "I implore all South Carolinians to be wary of this organization and to donate instead to charities that comply with Carolina South laws requiring financial transparency."

In March 2019, Miracle House of Hope Ministries was enjoined from soliciting contributions in South Carolina by order of the South Carolina Administrative Law Court, after failing to register as a charity and file annual financial reports as required under the Solicitation of Charitable Funds Act. In November 2019, the Administrative Law Court held Miracle House of Hope Ministries in contempt of court for repeatedly violating the injunction, and issued a bench warrant for the arrest of its chief executive officer, Bruce Little. Presently, Miracle House of Hope Ministries owes $12,000 in civil fines to the Secretary of State's Office.

On February 23, 2022, the Secretary of State's Office received several complaints that Miracle House of Hope Ministries was soliciting in Richland and Lexington counties. Miracle House of Hope solicitors collect cash donations by approaching motorists at busy traffic intersections and handing flyers. Because Miracle House of Hope Ministries refuses to file financial reports, it is unknown where the cash donations go or how they are used.

"Unfortunately. organization has run afoul of South Carolina law for years by continuing to send panhandlers across the border," said Secretary

Hammond. "If you are approached by a representative of Miracle House of Hope Ministries, first and foremost-do not give them money. Secondly, contact your local law
