SMC announces new mascot - Big Blue!

Pioneers are determined, ambitious, and resilient - characteristics Spartanburg Methodist College has stood for since 1911. Now they're bringing that legacy to life with a new mascot - Big Blue the Ox!

Why is Big Blue an ox? SMC is still the Pioneers, but throughout history, pioneers depended on oxen and other powerful animals to pull their wagons across uncharted territory as they forged new paths and shaped the future. Just like those pioneers our community embodies strength, perseverance, and hard work.

Big Blue represents more than just power – it symbolizes the grit and endurance of the Pioneer Spirit. In academics, athletics, and the pursuit of personal excellence, our community is blazing new trails together – just like the pioneers of the past.

USC Upstate volleyball's Justin Sanders named American Volleyball Coaches Association Thirty Under 30

Lexington, KY – A key contributor to the success of the USC Upstate volleyball program and its continued growth, assistant coach Justin Sanders earned national recognition for his efforts within the program and volleyball community as he was honored as one of the rising leaders in the sport with an American Volleyball Coaches Association Thirty Under 30 selection.

The AVCA's Thirty Under 30 program honors up-andcoming coaches who work hard and are passionate about teaching and helping grow the game of volleyball while serving in a range of roles at all levels of volleyball. With his selection, Sanders joins head coach Ali Skayhan (2023) in earning the prestigious honor.

NorthMark Strategies announces $2.8 billion investment in Spartanburg, 27 new jobs

Article adapted from information provided by NorthMark Strategies and OneSpartanburg, Inc.

NorthMark Strategies, through its subsidiary Valara Holdings, recently announced a transformational $2.8 billion investment to establish a stateof-the-art high-performance computing (HPC) center in Spartanburg.

The facility will be developed at the former Kohler manufacturing site and is poised to become one of the world's most advanced centers for computational innovation.

our leadership in high-performance computing and demonstrates our commitlong-term ment to growth," said Jen Byrne, President of NorthMark Strategies. "We're investing not only in advanced technology but in the future of the industries we serve - enabling breakthroughs in artificial intelligence, data science, and simulation."

The development will focus on supporting nextgeneration computational needs, including machine learning, advanced simulations, and large-scale data analytics. The first three phases will repurpose 350,000 square feet of existing warehouse space, followed by the redevelopment of a 500,000-squarefoot vitreous plant in later phases. The facility will feature its own self-generating power infrastructure, allowing it to operate independently from the local power grid. Environmental remediation work has already begun at the site to restore the land and "This facility reinforces enhance sustainability.

> Of more than 100 U.S. locations evaluated, Spartanburg was selected for its strategic advantages, business-friendly climate, and strong local workforce.

Construction of the facility is expected to create between 400 and 600 project-based jobs, with the operational phase supporting at least 27 full-time employees. NorthMark also plans to engage local vendors and suppliers for ongoing operations and maintenance.

South Carolina Governor Henry McMaster applauded the investment, stating "North-Mark Strategies' $2.8 billion project is a milestone for Spartanburg County and a testament to South Carolina's reputation as a leader in innovation and technology. We welcome NorthMark to our state and look forward to the long-term economic and technological benefits this project will bring."

Spartanburg County Councilman David Britt added, "We are excited to welcome NorthMark to Spartanburg. This investment is not only dynamic and forward-looking - it comes at zero cost to taxpayers and places minimal strain on our existing infrastructure. It's a win for the entire community."

NorthMark also intends to invest in educational and workforce initiatives in the region, reinforcing its commitment to sustainable, community-driven growth.

Re:Degree initiative marks a year of impact across Spartanburg County

Adapted from informaprovided OneSpartanburg, Inc.

OneSpartanburg, recently celebrated the anniversary of Re:Degree by announcing the initiative's impact over its first

Re:Degree, launched in April 2024, is an initiative designed to break down barriers to degree-completion for more than 50,000 Spartanburg County residents with some college experience but no degree.

In its first year, Re:Degree has led to 695 individuals beginning the process to reenroll, 118 individuals reenrolling in college, 9 individuals graduating with a degree, and 2 individuals earning certifications to advance in their career field.

Re:Degree is an initiative of OneSpartanburg, Inc., powered by Movement 2030, a sweeping plan led by the Spartanburg Academic Movement to dramatically advance economic stability and educational attainment across the county.

"The completion of my degree has allowed for a heavy cloud to be lifted and a beautiful rainbow full of possibilities and opportunities to appear," said Kimberly Anderson, the first student to earn a degree thanks to the Re:Degree initiative. "Without Re:Degree, I'm not sure I'd ever have the financial means, as a single mom, to pay for and complete my BA in Studio

Anderson works in the special education department at Jesse Boyd Elementary School. She earned her degree from Converse in 2024 and planned to pursue her master's degree to become a fully-accredited teacher.

Data used to build the OneSpartanburg Vision Plan 2.0 directly inspired Re:Degree's creation. A team of College Navigators, along with staff at local colleges, work with individuals to overcome barriers preventing them from earning a degree.

"If you live in Spartanburg County, there's no better time than now to finish your educational journey. Thanks to the Spartanburg Academic Movement and Movement 2030, students have access to resources and support like never before. Don't wait another day; engage with Re:Degree now," said OneSpartanburg, President and CEO Allen Smith.

Anyone interested in connecting can visit www. ReDegreeSpartanburg.com and fill out an inquiry form, which will provide a snapshot of the individual so a customized plan can be crafted.

An official 1-year Re:Degree celebration event was held on April 26 at the OneSpartanburg, Inc. office.

A bold new vision for Bon Secours Wellness Arena

Since opening its doors in 1998, Greenville's Bon Secours Wellness Arena has hosted more than 3,000 events and welcomed over 12 million guests—cementing its status as a central hub for entertainment in the Upstate.

Though the arena has seen minor updates over the years, its overall appearance has remained largely unchanged. Now, that could be about to change in a major way.

On Thursday, April 17, the Greenville Arena District (GAD) unveiled a bold new master plan that would not only transform the arena's appearance but also expand its offerings with the addition of a 6,500-seat downtown amphitheater.

Developed in collaboration with renowned architecture firms LS3P, LMN, and Gensler, the project is estimated to cost between $150 million and $170 million.

Highlights of Proposed Transformation: A Striking Entrance: The arena's primary entrance would shift to the west side along Church Street - currently home to the VIP entrance replacing the existing entryway at North Academy and East North

Expanded Concourse:

Plans include a larger concourse area, upgraded restrooms, more concession options, new entrances, and enhanced premium seating.

 $D \quad o \quad w \quad n \quad t \quad o \quad w \quad n$ Amphitheater: A key feature of the proposal is the 6,500-seat outdoor amphitheater, which will include green spaces and integrated restaurant and retail components. This new venue could add approximately 30 events per year to Greenville's entertainment calendar and is projected to generate an estimated \$63 million annually in economic impact.

"Our charge to the design team was clear: provide us with a roadmap to ensure the arena remains successful and relevant for years to come," said Beth Paul, General Manager of Bon Secours Wellness Arena. "We're committed to staying open throughout construction, with no major disruptions to scheduled events."

Importantly, the renovaarena officials also met with descendants and community members from Little Texas - the historically Black neighborhood formerly located where the arena now stands - to gather insights and honor its legacy.

"This is our chance to build on the foundations laid by the families of Little Texas, the visionaries behind Memorial Auditorium, and the leaders who opened this arena 25 years ago," said Neetu Patel, Chair of the Greenville Arena District Board. "This plan isn't just about a building - it's about preserving and enhancing a vital community asset for generations to come."

The next phase will involve refining design details, updating cost estimates, exploring funding strategies, and continuing stakeholder engagement. GAD aims to finalize the plan by year's end, with construction on key improvements expected to begin in 2026 or early 2027.

TD Charitable Foundation awards $7.2 million to 36 nonprofits

Cherry Hill, N.J. — The TD Charitable Foundation, the philanthropic arm of TD Bank, has announced $7.2 million in grants to 36 nonprofit organizations committed to helping low- to moderate-income (LMI) homeowners maintain long-term housing stability.

The grants, part of the Foundation's 19th annual Housing for Everyone program, will provide $200,000 to each selected nonprofit across TD's footprint from Maine to Florida and in Michigan.

These funds will support a range of innovative programs aimed at helping households in LMI communities overcome growing challenges such as rising property taxes, increasing home repair costs, and the risk of foreclosure. Grant recipients are focused on solutions including postpurchase counseling, foreclo-

Summer health and safety tips doctors want you to know

(StatePoint) School is out, the days are long and the temperature is rising. For a safer, healthier summer, follow these American Medical Association recommendations:

- 1. Wear sunscreen. Look for a broad-spectrum sunscreen of at least SPF 30. Also, no sunscreen is waterproof. If you're splashing in a pool or sweating in the summer sun, you'll need to reapply every couple of hours or immediately after swimming.
- 2. Get up to date. With measles cases increasing, make sure your family members are up-to-date on their vaccines before travel and camp season. Double check everyone's vaccine status. If you have questions, speak with your physician.
- 3. Be water safe. Make sure everyone in your family achieves water competency skills. Teach children to ask permission before going near water, have inexperienced swimmers or boaters of all ages wear U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jackets, and always swim in lifeguarded areas at the beach.
- 4. Watch your diet. Reduce intake of processed foods, paying particular attention to added sodium and sugar. Add fresh fruits vegetables, whole grains, nuts and seeds to your diet. This doesn't mean you have to give up summer barbecuing. Simply replace red meat and processed meats with lean meats, like poultry, and plant-based proteins. Also, reduce your consumption of sugar-sweetened beverages and drink more water instead.

5. Be physically active. Take advantage of warmer weather to get outdoors and get active. For optimal physical and mental health, adults should get at least 150 minutes of moderate-intensity activity or 75 minutes of vigorous-intensity activity each week. While exercise is important, avoid working out outside in the early afternoon (noon to 3 p.m.) when it's hottest. Drink water before, during and after physical activity, and wear light-colored, lightweight, moisture-wicking clothing.

best to protect yourself when temperatures can impact your health.

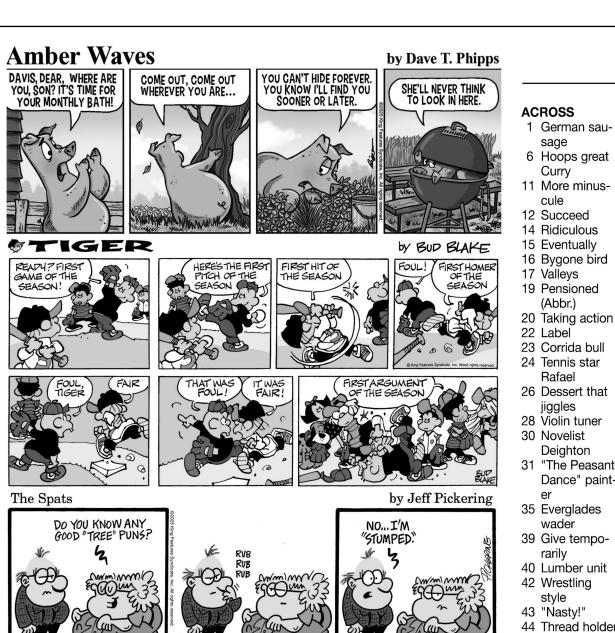

6. Use caution. If you'll be consuming alcohol, do so in moderation as defined by the U.S. Dietary Guidelines for Americans-up to one drink per day for women and two drinks per day for men, and only by adults of legal drinking age.

7. Know your blood pressure numbers. Extreme temperatures can impact blood pressure, so it's especially important right now to visit ManageYourBP.org to better understand your numbers and take necessary steps to get high blood pressure, also known as hypertension, under control. Doing so will reduce your risk of heart attack and stroke.

8. Check first. Before heading outdoors, check your community's outdoor air quality using the Air Quality Index. Smoke from wildfires and degraded air quality that gets worse with warmer temperatures can irritate your eyes, nose, throat and lungs. Children, pregnant people and those with certain chronic conditions must be especially careful.

"Behind every summertime joy-warmth, barbecues, watersports-is a notso-secret health or safety hazard like sunburn, heat drowning, exhaustion, unhealthy foods and drinks" says Bruce A. Scott, M.D, president of the American Medical Association. "Simple steps can ensure your family safely enjoys the summer season."
